Eisenhower's Great Burden

In just a moment this will get around to a heavily burdened man who presently spends much of his time in a pine-paneled room in a house near Augusta, Ga.—Dwight D. Eisenhower. But, first this preamble:

During the early months after the Second World War ended, an American officer, friendly and well-meaning, was stationed in a small ancient town in Burgundy which had been almost totally destroyed by war.

Gabriel Marcel, French writer, recalls in a recent article, this officer saying, with complete sincerity:

"Of course the loss is terrible but in the long run you will be grateful to us for having destroyed all these antiquities. Now you will be able to build a new and more orderly town."

That this goes to the heart of the problems with which the harassed, burdened man will be wrestling for the next several days requires no great stretch of imagination.

He is dealing with a nation and a people whose society is built on that very feeling—to expand, to tear down a perfectly good building so as to construct something larger and efficient, to produce more, to stack offices and people in layers piled high in the air; make our cars go faster . . . to be, in fact, a dynamic, expanding society and to have an economy which will sustain it.

Problem

Mechanization moves ahead with the process of turning farms into factories. A way of life is destroyed. Less and less persons are needed on the land. But these fewer persons using machines can produce as much as several times more than what many people once harvested from, and out of, the earth.

Even the most completely small-holding agricultural areas awake to find they have become largely urban in nature. The garden, the chickens, the patches of this and that crop remain. But one or more members of the family drive their own car, or join a car pool, to ride to a not-too-distant factory to work. They bring home wages which average from around $50 to $75 per week. The land has less demand on it. The house is painted, the barn is repaired. A room or so is added to the home. A TV set and new furniture is bought. Material life is better. But, the old way of life is gone. "The job," not the land, assumes the most importance.

The Congress of the United States and the various state legislatures have not yet seen clearly what this means. They cling to old formulae. So the man laboring at his desk hard by where the greens and fairways beckon beyond his window must try to juggle these old formulae to fit the present changed demands—and to hope for permission to use a new one—though, to be sure, not a too-daring one.

Go Slow?

A population of 360,000,000; burgeoning cities where a real depression would be a horror and a threat to stability of government; big labor, big business, big social security, big employment, with the threat of big unemployment; big international pressures (with nagging fools trying to demand that Britain stop all world trade—though we will do little in return)—all these are on the man's shoulders.

There is more—from the very persons who cry loudest they are on "his side."

That is the so-called "reactionary side" of business.

They cry "go slow" politically.

They demand "less change," less "government."

The truth is, as President Eisenhower has learned, too many American conservatives have failed to understand the true nature of conservatism. Our economy—by the very facts of its dynamic expansion, growth, production, discoveries, comforts—is productive of a radical, daring nature. Americans cannot "go slow politically" while they add more horsepower to their cars to enable Americans to go faster. They cannot change the face and form of these states and not have "change."

The harassed man at work near Augusta must find a way to continue a dynamic, expanding economy—and to do so with old formulae which no longer produce the answers.

Booby-Trap On German Plan Hinted

Soviet May Put Limit on Arms

By DREW MIDDLETON
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

LONDON, Dec. 28—The Soviet Union is expected to present a carefully booby-trapped proposal for German unity and neutrality to the meeting of foreign ministers in Berlin next month.

The Russians are preparing the Communist governments in eastern Europe for the unveiling by Foreign Minister Molotov of a Soviet "peace plan" creating a united Germany but severely limiting its armaments, according to information reaching London.

But in the view of diplomatic sources here, such proposals will be basically "a propaganda vehicle," since the conditions which Russia is expected to attach to the proposal will be unacceptable to the United States and Britain.

POSSIBLE CONDITIONS

These will include, it is believed:

1. A four-power agreement on the basic conditions of a German peace treaty based on the Potsdam protocol.

2. A second agreement on the summoning of a five-power conference including Communist China to discuss other international issues.

The position of the United States, Britain and France on the question of agreement on a peace treaty is unchanged since the four foreign ministers last met in Paris in May of 1949. It is that a peace treaty can be written only after Germany is reunited so that a new German government can be represented at the peace conference.

SERIOUS OBSTACLE

To this official position many diplomats add their private conviction that Russia does not want or expect German unity in the immediate future. As far as the U. S., Britain and France are concerned, it is said, the Bonn convention liquidating the Allied occupation and the European Defense Community arming West Germany are as close as the world is liable to come to a German peace treaty in the foreseeable future.

The second condition, that of a five-power conference with Com-

Suspect in Polk Killing Seized in Kansas City

Constitution State News Service

CEDARTOWN, Dec. 28—Speedy action by Polk County Sheriff John Redding resulted today in the arrest of a man in Kansas City, Mo., in connection with the fatal shooting of Bide Short, 55, Polk County farmer.

Redding said Kansas City Police Lt. Lester Haupt identified the man as Grover Cleveland Gentry, 35, ex-serviceman.

Lt. Haupt said that Gentry admitted gambling and drinking with Short at Short's home Christmas Day. The lieutenant quoted Gentry as saying that he and Short became involved in an argument, then Short picked up a shotgun and threatened him with it, and that Short was killed by the accidental discharge of the weapon as the two men struggled for the gun.

The lieutenant said that Gentry was picked up after his divorced wife notified officers that Gentry threatened her with a shotgun at her home near Parkville, Mo., and forced her to take him to Kansas City in her car.

Sheriff Redding said he was told by the Kansas City officer that Gentry had a double barrelled shotgun in his possession when arrested. It fitted the description of one that Short's relatives believed was stolen from the dead man's home, he said.

Gentry signed a waiver of extradition and will be picked up Wednesday by Sheriff Redding.

Short's body, with a gun wound in the stomach, was discovered yesterday in the house in which he lived alone in the Hampton district, five miles northwest of here.

The sheriff said he got on the suspect's trail when he learned that a man answering Gentry's de-

French Aerial Attacks Lash Red Advance

SAIGON, Dec. 28 (AP)—Communist columns speared southward under bruising air attack today from the Red belt across the waistline of Indochina while French reinforcements poured northward by round-the-clock airlift to block their path.

French staff officers said a decisive battle might be shaping up in central Laos along the border of Thailand.

LOST NO TIME

The Red jungle fox, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, lost no time in exploiting his Christmas sweep which cut Indochina in two. A French army spokesman said:

"The enemy command has launched innumerable mobile columns towards the south to seek contact with the French Union forces."

The main enemy columns were pushing down colonial route 12 from captured Thakhet on the Thailand frontier toward Savannakhet, key French base and transport hub 50 miles to the south.

AMERICAN MADE

American-made B-26 light bombers and Bearcat fighter-bombers swarmed ceaselessly over the Communist vanguard, dumping tons of explosives and raking the columns with machinegun fire.

Gen. Henri Navarre, the French commander in chief, threw his every resource into converting Savannahkhet into a fortress capable of stopping the Communist drive.

Staff officers admitted that the Red columns could reach the French Union defenses sooner than expected, precipitating a crisis of far reaching possibilities.

Fire Perils TV Towers; 2,500 Flee

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28 (AP)—Flames, less than a half mile away, crept up steep wooded slopes toward famed Mt. Wilson Observatory and the four million dollar television transmitter area today as Southern California's worst forest fire of 1953 crackled out of control.

Already this fire, 12 miles east of here, and another one 20 miles farther east have forced 2,500 persons from their homes and are believed to have destroyed 136 vacation cabins. Both fires are in the San Gabriel Mountains.

Evacuations were from homes along the foothills. The towns of Sierra Madre and Monrovia the most seriously threatened.

SEVERAL FRONTS

County Fire Chief Keith Klinger termed it a "very bad situation." He said flames are coming down mountains on several fronts toward the foothills towns. More than 1,000 men are on the fire lines.

A volunteer fireman, Robert Sneed, 20, was injured carrying a hose line up a mountainside. No other casualties have been reported.

The second fire is north of Pomona and Claremont in the Mt. Baldy section where about 300 persons were evacuated.

More than 10,000 acres of valuable timber and watershed land have been blackened, posing flood dangers when spring rains arrive. Although the fire cause is undetermined, a serious winter drought is a contributing factor.

WORST OF YEAR

Richard S. Johnson, fire prevention officer of Angeles National Forest, termed the Mt. Wilson fire the worst of a year during which more than 70,000 acres have been burned.

Gusts up to 80 m.p.h. whipped the flames up Mt. Wilson last night. A favorable wind today, however, was blowing against the fire and slowing its progress to-

8 Democrats To Discuss State of Union

By M. L. ST. JOHN
Constitution Political Editor

AUGUSTA, Dec. 28—Georgia's three powerful Democratic congressional leaders today were invited to preview President Eisenhower's "State of the Union" speech before it is delivered to Congress Jan. 7.

The President asked Sens. Walter F. George and Richard B. Russell and Rep. Carl Vinson of Georgia to discuss with him the particular phase of the speech dealing with foreign affairs and national defense.

The Georgians and other Democratic and Republican leaders all have accepted the invitation to discuss the speech with the President and Vice President Nixon, James Hagerty, White House press secretary, said.

8 DEMOCRATS

Eisenhower invited eight Democratic and 12 Republican congressional leaders to go over the speech as a means of making a bi-partisan approach to foreign affairs and national defense.

The conference will be held at the White House at 10:30 a.m. Jan. 5, the day after Congress convenes and two days before the address is delivered.

Sen. George was invited as ranking Democratic member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Sen. Russell was invited as ranking Democratic member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and Rep. Vinson as ranking minority member of the House Armed Services Committee.

HEADED COMMITTEES

Since this trio headed their respective committees during the Democratic administrations, the bid by the Republican administration keeps them in position of advisers on the nation's defense and foreign affairs.

George, Russell and Vinson have worked for years with top Republican leaders on America's bipartisan foreign policy and national defense programs.

Those who will attend the speech conference are:

Republican Sens. William F. Knowland (Cal.), Eugene Millikin (Colo), Styles Bridges (NH), Homer Ferguson (Mich), Leverett Saltonstall (Mass), who is chairman of the Armed Services Committee, and Alexander Wiley (Wis), who is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Democratic Sens. Lyndon Johnson (Tex), minority leader; Earle Clements (Ky), minority whip, George and Russell.

$4 to $5 Billion Deficit Seen in Ike '55 Budget

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (INS)—Official sources said today that President Eisenhower's January budget probably will show a deficit of four or five billion dollars for the coming fiscal year, despite a sharp additional cut in spending.

Although the budget is not ready, indications are that it will call for a spending total in the 1955 fiscal year, which begins next July 1, of between 66.5 and 67.5 billion dollars, or about five billion below the amount for the current fiscal year.

$61.5 TO 62.5 BILLION

In the budget as submitted to Congress, tax collections are expected to be estimated at between 61.5 and 62.5 billion for the next fiscal year. Revenue estimates customarily are based on existing law, which in this case means the automatic expiration of some corporation taxes and various excise taxes due to lapse April 1.

If Congress should extend all or part of the taxes expiring April 1, the deficit for the next fiscal year could be reduced by as much as two billion dollars.

But there have been indications that the administration will propose changes which would result in some revenue loss in the tax reform bill the Treasury is drafting.

SPECIAL ALLOWANCES

Proposals under consideration range from a special tax allowance for working mothers to a broadened accelerated depreciation allowance as an incentive to business.

The administration is shooting for a balance of what is called the "cash" budget in the coming fiscal year. This is simply the difference between total government intake and outgo.

Military Cuts 51,000 Since Ike Inaugural

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—The armed forces have trimmed their military manpower by more than 51,000 since the Eisenhower administration took over last January, the Defense Department announced today.

In its first monthly manpower summary since the start of the Korean War in June, 1950, the department said there were 3,455,954 men and women in uniform on Nov. 30 compared with 3,506,000 when Mr. Eisenhower took office last Jan. 20.

The current total includes: Army 1,502,552, Navy 778,057, Marine Corps 251,770 and Air Force 923,575.

Gen. Carroll, Key Aide to President, Has Heart Attack

AUGUSTA, Dec. 28 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Paul T. Carroll, one of President Eisenhower's key aides, had a "minor" heart attack about 10 days ago but reportedly is recovering "in fine shape."

Carroll is secretary to the White House staff and also is Eisenhower's liaison man with the Pentagon.

PILOT THAWING OUT

Delivered Baby, Risked Life Saving Passengers

NORWAY HOUSE, Manitoba, Dec. 28 (AP)—A heroic pilot who delivered an Indian mother's baby in his marooned plane then almost perished attempting to shield the infant and two other children from six days of sub-zero cold was recovering today from frostbite.

The pilot, Paul Rickey, began his ordeal last Monday when he lost his way over the northern Manitoba wilderness with three passengers—Mrs. Annanian Harper and her two children, Elizabeth, 4, and Joseph, 6. Mrs. Harper was en route to a hospital at Island Lake, 300 miles northeast of Winnipeg, to have another child.

Unable to find his bearings, Rickey set his light plane down on a lake 340 miles north of Winnipeg, planning to continue the flight after daylight disclosed landmarks. But a storm snowed the plane in.

Rickey delivered Mrs. Harper's child that night with the aid of the few elementary medical supplies included in his plane's first aid kit. He stripped off his own shirt and underclothing to cover the baby.

The plane carried only one sleeping bag and the 37-year-old pilot bundled the mother and her three children into it, going without sleep for the entire six days in an attempt to keep his passengers alive.

The baby died Saturday, however, only a day before the pilot and passengers were sighted and rescued.

During the six-day ordeal Rickey chopped trees with a broken ax and kept the fire blazing. The mercury dropped to 35 below zero.

Rickey melted snow to make the baby's formula from powdered milk and sugar in the ration kit. Despite his efforts, the baby died. He tramped out messages in the snow: "O.K." "S.O.S." and "Baby Dead."

More U.S. Planes Seen for French

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (INS)—The United States was reported today to be preparing to rush additional aid, including huge Flying Boxcars, to the hard-pressed French in the Indochinese war.

The French are now moving their troops to the front in the large planes previously furnished under the U.S. mutual security program. The new Flying Boxcars will help augment the French airlift.

The State department, meanwhile, maintained a tight-lipped silence on the tense situation, where Communist leader Ho Chi Minh has exhorted his followers to "destroy the enemy."

Auto Thefts Like Chain Smoking, Says Boy Held Here as Gang Boss

A juvenile gang, whose 15-year-old leader compared automobile larceny with chain-smoking, yesterday was rounded up in connection with a three-month wave of thefts in the Atlanta area, police said.

Dets. J. M. Smith and J. E. Sikes said nine youths ranging in age from 14 to 16 were placed in the Fulton Juvenile Detention Home after police recovered 10 autos, four motor scooters, auto hub caps and an assortment of other items.

The gang leader, who has a juvenile court record, was quoted as saying:

"Stealing a car is just like smoking a cigarette—you light up and puff on it for a minute or two, then you throw it down and reach for another one. You drive one car a block or two and then you are ready for another one."

Smith and Sikes said the gang, all from the south Atlanta section, told of stealing as many as four cars a night to go "joy riding." They quoted the leader as saying one machine was abandoned when the motor ran hot and another "because it just didn't feel right the way it steered."

Each of the vehicles was abandoned after a short ride, detectives related.

After each larceny, a gang member would walk into police headquarters and pick up a daily bulletin, official police publication, to see if the vehicle was reported stolen, detectives said. The youths immediately abandoned the vehicle if they were reported stolen.

The leader described siphoning gasoline from parked cars and trucks within a block of police headquarters in Hapeville.

"We went there because we could watch the police come and go while we got the gas," the leader was quoted as saying. "We knew to quit when we saw them come out of the station."

Payroll, Production Seen Easing in '54

Industrial Drop of 5 Pct. Nothing Drastic, Experts Say

By WILMOT HERCHER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—A majority of some 300 economists in conference here agreed today the country is having "an orthodox recession," mild but general, and carrying with it a cut in production and payrolls.

On a show of hands at a forum conducted by the American Statistical Assn., they subscribed by a margin of at least 3-1 to the belief that the business slump would last through 1954.

But the consensus was that there is nothing to get excited about.

SECOND BEST

Even if industrial production falls as much as 5 per cent below this year's record level, as some economists predict, they say it would still leave 1954 as the second best business year in the country's history.

A majority of the economists at the meeting rejected the view of Eisenhower adminstration spokesmen that the business downturn is in a brief "adjustment" period after the defense boom.

MILDLY DOWNWARD

None of the economists present believed that production would decline less than 5 per cent from the 365 billion dollar level established in 1953; a few said they thought it might be more.

Gerhard Colm, chief economist of the privately supported National Planning Assn., foresaw a "mildly downward" business trend next year.

Business activity might fall as much as 6 per cent below the full employment level, he said in an address at the conference.

"Unemployment might rise from 1½ million in 1953 to perhaps 3½ million in 1954," he said.

SENIOR ECONOMIST

Colm added it should be possible to prevent the downward trend from developing into a depression "if the community maintains its confidence that the government is ready and willing to act." Others took the same view.

Colm was senior economist for the President's council of economic advisers before he joined the National Planning Assn.

The industrial outlook, Colm said, is for slightly less spending on new plant and equipment than in record-breaking 1953, with some further reduction in inventory stocks at the expense of new production. Assuming a drop of 10 to 15 billion dollars in output, he said this would mean "a level of activity of 5 or 6 per cent below the full employment level."

Courtney C. Brown, who heads the economic research staff of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and has been appointed dean of the Columbia University Graduate School of Business, was a shade less optimistic than Colm.

He forecast a business contraction "on the order of 1949 or even somewhat greater than 1949."

Brown said he saw no likelihood of the "cumulative chaos that marked the 1930's.

Jurist Bows To Shuffle Of Passports

MADRID, Dec. 28 (AP)—Judge William D. Clark admitted defeat in his one-man revolt against the U. S. State Department today after it seized his diplomatic passport on threat of arrest and left him nowhere to go but home.

For more than a month Clark, chief justice of U. S. courts in Germany and heir to the Clark thread fortune, had defied dismissal by Secretary of State Dulles and an order to return to the United States.

FAST SHUFFLE

The State Department scored a knockout in the battle with a fast shuffle of passports. It took away his diplomatic passport and in return handed him one bearing the notation:

"This passport only for direct travel from Spain to the United States. It expires Jan. 26, 1954. It cannot be amended or extended without the express authorization of the Department of State."

Robert D. Hale, U. S. consul general here, flew with the "fixed" document to the Canary Islands, where Clark was vacationing with his wife. He telephoned Clark there on Christmas Eve that the diplomatic passport must be surrendered.

Clark replied that he would take the first plane to Madrid. He went to the air line office, and found Hale and the local police commissioner waiting for him.

THREATENS ARREST

Hale told Clark he would be arrested if he did not hand over the passport. Clark capitulated, and for the virtually unlimited document received one leaving him no choice but to return to the United States.

Clark returned to Madrid today. He admitted he could do nothing but go home.

"I won't make any further comment until I put my feet on free American soil," he said.

He added that he would accept no State Department fare home, but would pay his own way. He said he would go to Paris tomorrow and take a ship from France to the United States—a route fulfilling closely enough the terms of his present passport.

His wife was expected to go to Frankfurt and clear up the family's personal affairs there.

Soviet Agrees To Release 2 U.S. Captives

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—The State Department said today the Russian government has promised to release Pfc. Homer Cox of Lawton, Okla., and Leland Towers of San Francisco but has not advised where or when. Negotiations on the time of release were reported under way.

Both men have been held by the Russians for several years.

Cox, 33, disappeared in September, 1949, while serving as a military policeman with the U. S. armed services in Berlin.

Towers, 29, was last heard from in October, 1951, while traveling in Europe as a tourist.

Babs Hutton, Rubirosa Reported Altar Bound

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Dime store heiress Barbara Hutton was reported today to be planning to start the new year by taking as her fifth husband Porfirio Rubirosa, the "Don Juan of the International Set."

Dominican embassy sources in Washington said the dashing Latin playboy and the one-time "poor little rich girl" would be married here Wednesday.

DID NOT DENY

Neither Miss Hutton nor Rubirosa would confirm the report. But they did not deny it, either.

Miss Hutton, 41, who has been married and divorced four times in a futile search for "true romance," admitted only that she knew Rubirosa. The handsome, 45-year-old Dominican, who has had three wives, one even richer than Babs, also refused comment.

When reached in Las Vegas, Nev., the dapper former diplomat said only he would make an announcement in New York Wednesday. He did not give a hint as to what he would say.

Miss Hutton, heiress to Woolworth millions, said she planned to remain in her luxurious apartment overlooking Central Park for "two or three weeks," due to a recent illness.

Rubirosa has been living up to his "Don Juan" reputation recently by courting glamorous Zsa Zsa Gabor at the Nevada resort. Miss Gabor said yesterday her romance with him was "all over," however.

British golfer Robert Sweeny named him co-respondent in a divorce suit against Joanne Connelly Sweeny, former New York debutante. The charge was adultery. Earlier this year Rubirosa was named co-respondent in a divorce suit brought by tobacco heir Richard Reynolds against his wife Marianne Reynolds.

Rubirosa's former wives are Flor De Oro Trujillo, daughter of the Dominican President Rafael Trujillo; French actress Danielle Darrieux and Doris Duke, the richest girl in the world.

PW Release Set Despite 'Force' Cry

Final Disposition Slated Jan. 22

By JAMES MORRISSEY

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Dec. 29 (AP)—Unrepatriated Allied and Communist war prisoners will be released next month despite charges they were not free to decide their own fate, informed sources said today.

These sources said final disposition of prisoners on both sides would be settled Jan. 22 as specified in the Korean armistice agreement.

"FORCE USED"

Two separate reports by the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission charged that both U.N. and Red factions disrupted the recently concluded 90-day explanation period by using "force" to influence undecided PWs.

Both the Allies and the Reds were expected to wait several days before issuing replies to the commission.

Meanwhile, it was anticipated the Communists would make propaganda capital of a report by the Indian, Czechoslovakian and Polish members of the Neutral Commission.

The Czech and Pole representatives, both Communist, and the neutral Indian member said in their report that the U.N. denied more than 22,000 anti-Communist PWs freedom to decide whether to return home.

"ALLIED AGENTS"

The report charged that Allied "ringleaders" and "agents" used force to influence anti-Red Chinese and North Koreans into remaining with the Allies.

But the other two members of the commission, Switzerland and Sweden, lodged a similar protest with the Communists and at the same time asked how "force" could be used against the prisoners while armed Indian guards protected them constantly.

Informed sources said the charges and counter-charges would have no effect on the prisoners' fate. They said no more explanations would be held between now and Jan. 22, date set for removal of all PWs from the neutral zone.

High American officials, including Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, have said repeatedly that the prisoners must be freed Jan. 22 under the armistice agreement.

Lecture by Motorist Fails To Dim Locomotive Lights

PERU, Ind., Dec. 28 (AP)—Charles Windoffer, 59, became very irritated Saturday night over the brightness of the lights of the "car" approaching him and the fact the driver would not dim them.

He stopped his car and noticed that the other vehicle had stopped too.

So he walked over and gave the driver a lecture on the importance of dimming lights on a country road.

It was some time, said Sheriff J. M. Behle, before Windoffer realized that he was talking to a railroad engineer and that the "car" with the bright lights actually was the locomotive of a Baltimore & Ohio freight train.

Windoffer, said Behle, had missed his usual turning and instead turned onto the railroad tracks and bumped along for half a mile. He tripped a warning signal or his encounter with the train might have been even more bothersome.

He paid a fine of $120 today for drunk driving.

U.S. Raises Investment In Pakistan

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

KARACHI, Pakistan, Dec. 28—The United States Government's investment in Pakistan rose to $114,000,000 today.

An agreement, the fourth of its kind between the two nations, was signed today to provide $22,000,000 in the United States technical and economic aid to Pakistan during the rest of the current fiscal year, which ends June 30.

Ambassador Horace A. Hildreth and Jalaluddin Abdur Rahim of the foreign office completed the agreement in an atmosphere of increasing optimism that a defensive military alliance also would be signed soon.

United States technical assistance to Pakistan began during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1951, with a grant of $600,000. This was folowed by $10,000,000 for the next fiscal year and $12,254,000 for the 12 months ended June 30 last.

In addition, there was the grant last summer of 700,000 tons of wheat valued at $70,000,000. Thus $44,854,000 of United States grants so far represented technical and economic aid.

To Expand Negro 4-H Camp

DUBLIN, Dec. 28—Plans for expanding the Negro 4-H Club camp here into a 500-capacity center that will provide instruction and recreation for 49,679 Georgia Negro club members were announced by P. H. Stone, Negro state agent.

Recent grants of 135 acres of land and $20,000 that will put the expansion program on an immediate basis also were revealed.

The new building program calls for construction of 30 cottages similar to those at the State 4-H Club Center at Rock Eagle. They will cost $10,000 each, Stone said.

An estimated $350,000 will be spent on the new development.

The 135 acres, adjacent to the present site, were contributed by R. E. and E. D. Martin, owners of Martin Theaters. A $10,000 contribution, made by the Mills B. Lane Foundation of Savannah, is already on hand and a similar amount, pledged by the Chicago Defender, Negro newspaper, is expected soon.

Alexander Hurse and Augustus Hill, state Negro 4-H agents, said construction on the Lane cottage will begin as soon as plans for the entire camp are developed.

Plans are to dedicate a new swimming pool, recently completed with a $6,000 donation from Mrs. Parker B. Poe of Thomasville, and the first cottage in May, 1954.

Tech Operating Costs Show $797,546 Rise

Total expenditures for operation and capital outlay for Georgia Institute of Technology were $6,869,894 for the year ended June 30, an increase of $797,546 over the previous year.

This was revealed yesterday in the annual audit of the school released by State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr.

The figures showed that regular enrollment at Tech increased during the year from 3,323 to 3,576, but that summer school enrollment dropped from 1,638 to 1,261.

Despite the increased expenditures and higher regular enrollment, the number of employes at Tech decreased from 1,170 in 1951-52 to 1,102 in 1952-52.

EXPENSE ITEMS

The total expenditures included $5,665,785 in educational and general expenditures and $1,204,109 on auxiliary enterprises such as dormitories, dining halls, college inn, military uniforms and others.

Administration costs increased from $285,404 the year before to $308,868. Instruction costs rose slightly from $1,740,459 to $1,780,578 in 1952-53.

Expenditures for organized research climbed from $1,327,287 to $1,912,118.

Personal services accounted for $4,210,149, rising from the previous year's $3,946,372.

STUDENT COST

The annual student per capita cost rose from $1,785 to $1,887.

Tech ended the fiscal year with a surplus of $207,349 in its general and educational fund, after providing necessary reserves for accounts payable, purchase orders outstanding, plant improvements and restricted and special funds.

The school's income included $2,009,023 in allotments from the Board of Regents of the University System, $1,494,399 from tuition and fees, $1,699,030 from research, and $353,017 from endowment income, gifts and other sources.

Georgia 6th in Road Death Toll

Georgia contributed heavily to the nation's high traffic toll for the Christmas weekend.

Sixth in the nation in number of deaths per capita, Georgia had 19 traffic fatalities—one for every 181,000 persons. Only 10 states recorded more traffic deaths than Georgia.

Five states with highest per capita toll:

Nevada, 10, one for every 16,000 persons; Vermont, 4, 94,000; West Virginia, 17, 118,000; Arizona, 6, 125,000, and Kentucky, 20, 147,000.

California recorded the highest state toll, 46, and New York was second with 34.

Five hundred twenty-two Americans died during the 78-hour period from 6 p. m. Thursday to midnight Sunday. The National Safety Council had estimated a toll of 510.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the safety council, termed the rash of accidents "a disgraceful way for a Christian nation to celebrate a religious holiday."

"Our only hope now is that out of the wreckage of all these lives may come a shock treatment which will hold down the toll during the New Year weekend," Dearborn said.

If most of the nation has moderate weather with passable roads this weekend, a repetition of heavy Christmas traffic is expected.

Hearing on Cobb Gas Mains Suit Reset for Jan. 2

A scheduled hearing yesterday on a suit to prevent the Atlanta Gas Light Co. from laying gas mains in five militia districts of Cobb County was postponed until Jan. 2.

Cobb Superior Court Judge James T. Manning granted the postponement on agreement of attorneys for Austell, Powder Springs and the gas company.

The two Cobb cities contend that the company's lines are being laid in portions of the county not included in its franchise and that this operation will interfere with a $1,800,000 gas system planned by Austell for south Cobb County.

Firemasters Plan Call on Styron

Members of the Atlanta Board of Firemasters will visit Fire Chief Styron at 7 p.m. today at the chief's residence, 166 Alabama St., SW. Following festivities, a short business session will be held.

A scheduled meeting Wednesday night of council's Police Comittee has been called off because of lack of business, Chairman Ed A. Gilliam announced yesterday.

Poison Booze Suspected in Death Here

Police last night awaited results of a post mortem examination and a chemical analysis of confiscated moonshine liquor to determine whether another shipment of poisoned liquor has turned up in Atlanta.

The post mortem was to be conducted on Willie Lee Huitt, 31, Negro, of 386 Felton Dr., NW, who, witnesses said, became violently ill and died after drinking from a pint bottle of corn whisky.

Detectives W. E. Petty and H. F. Brown said a Negro couple named as sellers of the whisky were held for investigation. They were listed as Isaac Barksdale, 48, Negro, and his wife, Annie Bell Barksdale, 41, of R391 Currier St., NE.

The Barksdales denied selling the liquor to the Huitt woman and a companion, Willie Hughes, also of a Felton Drive address, detectives said. They aded, however, a search of the Barksdale home produced a half-gallon of corn liquor which was turned over to the State Crime Laboratory for analysis.

Car-Truck Crash Kills 4, Hurts 1

LEXINGTON, Tenn., Dec. 28. (INS)—Four persons from St. Louis were killed today and a fifth injured when their car collided with a truck near Lexington.

The dead were identified as Lester Douglas, his wife, their young son Paul and James Rosson. The Douglas family was en route to St. Louis after spending Christmas holidays at their former Darden, Tenn., home.

14 Retiring City Officials Honored by Mayor, Board

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Mayor Hartsfield and the newly elected aldermanic board last night broke precedent and honored 14 retiring city officials at a farewell dinner at the Henry Grady Hotel.

Virtually all those retiring will do so because of a reduction in city wards and substitution of a 17-member aldermanic board for the old 27-member city council. The new program becomes operative Jan. 4.

Hartsfield praised the service of those who will end their public service. He said they were public officials in a "history-making era," when the Plan of Improvement and Atlanta's greatest expansion and growth took place.

The mayor predicted that even lower insurance rates are planned as soon as new fire stations projected under the improvement plan are completed, that Atlanta must make a "tight" budget next year, that large outlays must be made for the traffic court and preparations must be made to gear municipal courts to try all traffic misdemeanor cases, and that additional space must be bought adjacent to City Hall for expansion.

"Atlanta is the poorest government in the metropolitan area," the mayor said, "and we will face many problems. I predict, however, that we will meet them courageously and will solve them. I want every retiring official to know we appreciate the splendid contribution he made to our progress and growth and to our clean government."

Retiring Fifth Ward Councilman Jimmy Vickers announced he will offer for one of the Fulton County Commission posts next year and predicted he will win. Vickers said he wants to "straighten" out the commission.

Georgia Agriculture Faces a Challenge

"Georgia steaks are rare to medium, not in method of preparation, but in number. Over 30,000 carcasses of good to choice beef are shipped into Georgia annually—this in spite of the fact that the number of beef cows in Georgia increased 40 per cent from 1949 to 1952. . . ."

So begins a fascinating "A Look Ahead" by the Department of Georgia Agricultural Research from the College of Agricultural Experiment Stations.

The progress report is not merely exciting and good . . . it is exhilarating.

But the statistics then let us see that we had further to come than most states—and there is much yet to be done.

The net remains exciting. That the number of beef cows in Georgia should increase 40 per cent in three years is astounding. That most of our best beef must still be imported points up the importance of staying behind our 4-H boys and girls and along with our Future Farmers—since they are the ones who will have to bring us into the real victory of becoming a sure-enough beef and dairy state.

The report goes on to say, "Georgia can produce its own finished beef." The production of corn must be stepped up. Permanent pastures must be increased. Grain and forage crops must be fitted into the livestock program. Use of blackstrap molasses—of which we have a gracious plenty—in our own home-grown rough feed offers tremendous possibilities.

The experiment stations challenge us further with the fact that while Georgia has an abundance of rainfall, we have poor distribution. The challenge, therefore, is for more ponds, more irrigation uses, more soil conservation practices.

Georgia lags in dairying because of a backward State Department of Agriculture geared to politics rather than farmer needs. The researchers find that the dairy cow of the future may produce as much milk from forage alone as do present cows with liberal grain feedings. Georgia's production is low. It can be high. The know-how is available.

"Nutty pastures?" Sure. For the coastal plains the wild peanut is fitting well into experimental pastures to last out hot summer months.

One new sweet potato seedling, bred by Georgia's scientists, set in March 31 and harvested on Aug. 4, produced more than three times as much as the favored Puerto Rico, which accounts for 95 per cent of the state's production.

Income from poultry expanded from $15,795,000 in 1940 to $115,439,000 in 1952—the greatest increase in any agricultural enterprise. . . . New breeding methods are available.

So the story runs—crop by crop.

It is exciting in progress—even more inspiring in challenge.

We congratulate the Experiment Stations and the College of Agriculture on "A Look Ahead."

New Dog Law Protects Pets and the Public

Ordinarily, dog biting man is not news. But when the number of victims of canine incisors reaches the proportion it has in Atlanta, it makes not only headlines but also a new law.

In the first 10 months of 1953, 1,606 Atlantans were dog-bitten. That is, the figure is 1,606 if no person was bitten twice. Of those 1,606 victims, 60 were treated for rabies.

Besides the 1,606 dogs, more or less, that made a nuisance and menace of themselves by their nippish habits, many more were addicted to roaming around barking at people.

So the city has passed a new leash law. Starting Jan. 1, Atlanta dogs must be fenced in, tied to a rope or kept in their own yards.

That's the law and it's going to cost dog owners who disregard it. It's not the kind of dog law that a Georgia legislator called a broad, safe dog law, "one that will please my constituents and not interfere with the rights of dogs."

The new dog law will make owners fret and cause their pets to chafe and get hot under the collar.

Just the same, it is a good ordinance. It protects the pet and it protects the public. Dog owners should comply fully. The city should enforce it rigorously.

Indochina Position Should Be Clarified

The headlines are a little inconsistent. Secretary Dulles reports that the West has the Communists "on the run." In the same paper comes the disturbing report of new Red successes in the war in Indochina. Both statements need clarification in the minds of the average citizen.

There very definitely are signs that the West is winning some points in the cold war with Moscow and that its strength is reaching a state that it no longer must cringe forever on the defensive. The war in Indochina, however, has explosive qualities that are just as serious as the situation in Korea.

The new Communist drive in Indochina has been described as cutting that unhappy country in two. Actually, it is not as bad as that. There is no strict dividing line between Communist-held and non-Communist territory. The war is still a guerrilla-type affair.

The timing of Ho Chi Minh's attack, following his recent offer to negotiate an end to the war, would seem to indicate an effort to strengthen his bargaining position. It is also part of the Communist war of nerves against France, the Kremlin shrewdly playing its cards to bring pressure against French ratification of the European army.

It is unlikely that the United States will permit Indochina to fall to the Communists. President Eisenhower has said as much and our aid to the French there has been stepped up considerably in recent months.

The threat to all Asia embodied in Red conquest of Indochina is fully equal to that posed by the assault on South Korea in 1950 and by the earlier Red conquest of China. If it is our intention to prevent that conquest as we did in Korea (and did not in China), the State Department should make that perfectly clear now. It might prevent much bloodshed later.

His Memory Will Stay Fresh in Many Hearts

Atlanta lost one of her most beloved citizens in the death of Bernard J. Kane.

Mr. Kane was a member of a family that settled here before the War Between the States and his ties with the city were strong. He was a constant worker for many causes, particularly those bearing on the spiritual and social welfare of the area.

His work on behalf of the new St. Joseph's Infirmary, the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Free Cancer Home, the Society of St. Vincent de Paul and other activities of the Roman Catholic Church resulted in the bestowal of the Papal knighthood of St. Sylvester.

Mr. Kane was an exemplary citizen, husband and father. Two of his sons gave their lives for their country during World War II. He was a man with considerably more than the usual amount of faith and charity in his character, and his life at its close was a long record of devoted service to his God and his fellowman.

Judge Callaway Merits Honor on Retirement

After 31 years on the bench in Atlanta city court, Judge Andrew Wilson Callaway will retire Dec. 31 to become "Judge Emeritus." As such, in keeping with the Legislative Act prescribing his retirement, he will be subject to duty at the call of the new chief judge of the court.

Friends of Judge Callaway will honor him this afternoon at a retirement ceremony to which the public is invited.

The honor is well deserved. Appointed in 1922 by Council as associate judge in the city court and retained on the bench by the vote of the people two years later, he has been re-elected without opposition for successive terms since.

As a jurist, Judge Callaway has been able and fair. He has administered justice with a compassion which easily could have arisen from his humble beginnings as a farm boy and a grocery clerk. His has been a useful and notable career.

As we congratulate Judge Callaway on its formal completion, we join with other admirers in the pleasure of knowing that he'll be standing by ready to serve when his community calls.

New Sign for Georgia: Haven of Presidents

This sign would look good at the various state lines:

"Georgia, the Haven for Presidents."

Florida and California for years have been catering to the tourist trade. Other states have sought, through advertising and other means, to attract more people to visit them. They have used various means of achieving this end. But Georgia has a distinction which should make a deep impression upon those who are seeking places to visit, rest and adopt as a permanent residence.

Georgia must have something. If two of the last three presidents prefer Georgia as a place to rest and relax, who are we to differ?

Those who have not tried Georgia—any section of it—should do so. They, like the Presidents, might find just the spot they have been seeking.

Getting Out of Town May Be Best Defense Against A-Bomb, but Citizen Wonders 'How'?

Atlanta—We are thoroughly in agreement with Civil Defense Director Jackson that the best defense against the A-bomb or H-bomb is to get out of town. But how?

Did you ever notice those big signs conspicuously erected on all main highways leading out of town: "In event of enemy attack, this highway will be closed to all vehicles except CD and military traffic"?

Such an edict could not be enforced by the entire United States Army with fixed bayonets. To flatly decree that all inhabitants must stay in the city while the Russians drop A-bombs upon them sounds mighty peculiar.

In this connection, several of my friends have loudly and flatly stated that when the bombs begin to fall they will first load all rifles, shotguns and pistols in their possession, put their families (and guns) in the family car and shoot their way out of town, guards and signs notwithstanding.

Ike's Message Gets A Warm Response

Decatur—The Christmas prayer message of President Eisenhower is an inspiration to the American people in particular and to all freedom-loving people in general. America should be thankful and proud for such a leader in these confused and perplexed days.

Our earnest prayers are with the President. May the Almighty God bless and keep him and use him as His agent to bring understanding among the nations of our troubled world.

Equalizing Schools Should Be Completed

McDonough—Regarding the now pending question of school segregation in Georgia, it is my opinion that the U.S. Supreme Court should not pass upon the matter until this state has had time to complete the state-wide school building program which is now in progress. Such building program proposes to bring to pass equal school facilities for all children. What else does anyone want aside from that?

So far as I am concerned, and I feel that the colored Georgians are for the most part of the same opinion, that if we have equal school facilities, equal service for money we spend in public transportation, equal protection of the law, equal opportunity for employment we may be capable of fitting into, I would be just as contented to sit in a Negro school with my own race, where I know I am welcome, as I am to sit in my own Negro churches.

I say to the Supreme Court, since Georgia has begun her school building program, give her the chance to carry it to completion. When this has been done it may be found that no action will be necessary.

Miami Beach, Fla.—Why not pass a law that a left-turner has the right to make a left turn?

Often you have to wait two or three red lights to meet a gentleman who will give you the way. In the meantime, a dozen riders behind you are blowing their horns to deafness and you cannot move.

Gov. Dewey Fires Democrats' Anger

WASHINGTON—If you had to pick the single person who had most to do with the nomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower on the Republican ticket—that is, outside of that man, himself—you probably would light on Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

You would be moved by a variety of reasons—his influence as titular leader of the Republican Party and twice its candidate for president; his control of the biggest state delegation in the convention; his recognized political know-how and, as important perhaps as any other factor, his enlistment for help in directing the Eisenhower nomination campaign of Herbert Brownell Jr., his Own Man Friday in three nominating conventions and two presidential campaigns. For that, Mr. Brownell now is Attorney General.

Now, paradoxically, not a year after President Eisenhower's entrance into the White House, there are signs that the same Governor Dewey may have worked himself into a liability of no small consequence to the Eisenhower administration in one fairly important quarter in the coming session of an almost evenly divided Congress.

That is with Democrats in Congress upon whom the President must rely again, as last session, for needed votes on crucial issues. Democrats in Congress are hopping mad at Governor Dewey because of his bitter and vengeful tirade at them and former President Truman in his recent speech at Hartford, Connecticut. They profess to find in it evidence of the continued influence of Governor Dewey on the Eisenhower administration, including substantiation of their suspicion that he was behind a maneuver that rankles very much with them—the Brownell attack on Ex-President Truman in the Harry Dexter White case. This was seen in the New York governor's staunch defense at Hartford of the Attorney General's exploit.

For their purposes, Democrats also see in the Dewey speech a way to get at the President, still too popular for most to attack directly, by identifying Governor Dewey as the real guiding genius politically of the Eisenhower administration. You may expect some pot-shooting by Democrats on that score, and with double meaning, for they know how the Dewey influence is resented by the conservative or Taft wing of the Republican Party which appears to be predominant in Congress.

The extent to which Democratic leaders, particularly in the Senate, count upon Governor Dewey's Hartford speech becoming an inciting force may be inferred from the fact that it is now being distributed to every Democratic senator by the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, and with certain portions underlined, among them the governor's injunction to his audience: "Remember that the words Truman and Democrat mean diplomatic failure, military failure, death and tragedy." That, and other excerpts, are like the red rag waved before the bull.

The Dewey speech may, indeed, turn out to have been a costly venture for the President, since the administration's reliance upon Democrats at the coming session may involve more than foreign policy, in which area they supplied winning votes last session.

HIGHLINES: Seems as though a thin man told a lady that she was about the fattest person he knew. She came right back and said, "Well, I'd rather shake than rattle." — Dan Grahl in The Leader Tribune, Fort Valley.

I don't know any miracle that will cure the troubles of the sad old universe. But I do know that we would help a whole lot if we could figure out a way to make all the lonely, unloved people feel heartwarmed and belonging.—Bernice B. McCullar in The Stewart-Webster Journal.

The line between the villain and the hero is not so sharply drawn these days. The villain no longer wears handlebar mustaches but we can spot them in a minute in the comic strips. They always have ultra-modern furniture, live in an apartment and drink martinis. Respectable people in the comics have antiques and drink sherry.—John Rozier in The Wrightsville Headlight.

The Court Stands As Another Parent

The problem of juvenile delinquency is largely an urban one. Many young people brought before Judge W. W. Woolfolk of the Fulton County Juvenile Court are Atlantans by adoption. The chances are good that if their parents had not heeded the call of the city, Junior might have stayed clear of the law. For lawlessness among juveniles is more a matter of circumstance than inclination, and the city is full of the occasions of sin.

Delinquency no longer is the property of the very rich and the very poor. The speed of modern life, the unnatural herding together of great masses of people, the loosening of home ties and the decline of the stern patriarch as head of the household have allowed it to spead through all segments of society. Five days a week Judge Woolfolk hears and ponders the troubles of individuals which in most cases are manifestations of an imperfect civilization.

Most common juvenile offense is stealing, and it is not the guiltless kind when bread is taken to appease hunger. It is stealing for show, out of bravado, to win the respect of contemporaries, and quite often as an unconscious revenge upon society. Auto theft is fairly common and so is shoplifting. It's the old problem of the have-nots versus the haves, the first signs of resentment against the world that may build up to mayhem unless it is eased in time.

The remedy is not confinement as it was not so long ago, but a gentle sort of exorcism: Of the nearly 1,600 cases of juvenile delinquency that Judge Woolfolk handled last year, only 89 were committed to the four training schools of the state welfare department. Most were solved on the spot, often after a heart-to-heart talk with the parents of the delinquent, and nearly 250 were probated. The probationers stay under the paternal eye of officers of the court until there is reasonable certainty that all is well, or at least very much better.

One of the recent cases concerned a teen-ager, up for the second time. The boy was completely anti-social, and when he saw something he wanted, he took it. When he was balked he raged, and look out, friends! He was under-sized, but handy with his fists, and if the odds seemed long, he was not above using the nearest weapon to enforce his will.

Investigation revealed an unstable family background and an older and quite delinquent brother. The parents condoned the elder's acts and protected him from the law. When the younger first came before the court he was as truculent as he was in the schoolyard, but after a couple of talks softened considerably.

His parents had moved to Atlanta and his lack of physical development and crummy clothes made him the butt of schoolroom jokes. Size notwithstanding, he was a fighter and enforced respect with his fists. From school bully to adult menace is an easy road and he was well on the way until the court intervened.

He's home still, but with a third parent, the court. He has promised to shape up, and at the last report was doing fine. Part of the treatment prescribed by Judge Woolfolk was medical. Physical ailments frequently result in mental ills, and in this case may be the cause of the boy's belligerent attitude toward the world.

Talmadge Sets Pace For Men in Office

The State of Georgia is now building a new State Agriculture Building. It will be a fine structure and a credit to our state for years to come.

During the last meeting of the Legislature the House passed a resolution which would have named this magnificent new building for Gov. Herman Talmadge.

There is a good reason to name such a building for him. He has demonstrated his interest in agriculture and in the farmer, and he himself is a farmer of some note. Also, he has been interested in this new building and has been somewhat responsible for it being built.

However, when the resolution reached his desk he vetoed it. I am sure he would have been glad to have the building named for him, and his children and grandchildren in years to come would have appreciated it. Still, he vetoed the resolution.

I am proud of Herman for that action. Some governors in other states have seen to it that their names were put on many buildings, bridges and state institutions. Some public officials have been glad to use their position for their own glory. But our governor rose above petty vanity in refusing to sign a resolution which would have named a building for him. His action speaks well for his character.

When he was first elected governor I said to him many people were criticizing him, but that I wanted him to know I would be praying for him regularly. I wanted no state job or political influence. All I wanted was for him to be a good Governor and for our State to prosper.

Through these years I have continued to pray for him, and when I have heard someone speaking critically of him in any way, I have suggested that they, too, include him in their prayers.

Happily, I can report many of our prayers for him are being answered. From time to time I have had opportunities to be with him, and I know Herman is a bigger man now than he was four years ago. He has grown in character and in wisdom and not only is he seeking to be a good governor, he also is seeking to be a good man. I believe him to be honest and sincere and to have the interests of the people at heart.

Some people may interpret my words about Gov. Talmadge as political. But he won't. He knows I am seeking no favors and he knows I am his friend. I do not need to write it in the paper.

What I am interested in is that every citizen has a duty and responsibility to help our public officials to do their jobs in the best possible manner. We criticize too quickly and too freely those who are our elected leaders.

Indochina Action Tests U.S. Policy

WASHINGTON—When a man of the military prestige of President Eisenhower makes an impressive statement to the whole world, the Soviet rulers wait to see whether he really means what he says. If he doesn't, they accord his remarks no more respect than the hollow pledges of any other statesman. The Communists today are testing President Eisenhower on their aggressions in Indochina. They want to know if he was bluffing on April 16 last when he declared in his historic speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors:

"The first great step along this way must be the conclusion of an honorable armistice in Korea.

"It should mean—no less important—an end to the direct and indirect attacks upon the security of Indochina and Malaya. For any armistice in Korea that merely released aggressive armies to attack elsewhere would be a fraud."

Now the aggression has come. Indochina has been cut in two by a drive of the Communists which was begun on Christmas Day, and Thailand's security is also threatened. Two days before —on the night of Dec. 23—Vice President Nixon, just back from a tour of Southeast Asia, reported over a nation-wide network to the American people:

"If Indochina falls, Thailand is put in an almost impossible position. The same is true of Malaya, with its rubber and tin. The same is true of Indonesia.

"If this whole part of Southeast Asia goes under Communist domination or Communist influence, Japan—who trades and must trade with this area in order to exist—must inevitably be oriented toward the Communist regime. That indicates to you and to all of us why it is vitally important that Indochina not go behind the Iron Curtain."

Small wonder that the Moscow government postponed the Big Four conference until Jan. 24. It wants to see what the American government and its Allies will do about the Indochina aggression. Also, on Jan. 22 all prisoners in Korea who want to be repatriated have to be released.

Thus has the spirit and the letter of the Korean armistice been flagrantly violated. What does the President of the United States intend to do about it? The Moscow and Peiping governments are assuming that the Truman-Acheson policy of appeasement still prevails and apparently are going ahead in Indochina with their defiance of the United Nations in general and the United States in particular. Meanwhile, some of the Allies are already planning to resume normal trade with the Communists and thus throw away the only real leverage the Allies possess.

Georgia Gets $13 Million In Federal Highway Aid

The state of Georgia has been allocated $13,335,300 in federal highway funds that actually will be paid next July but which can be "programmed" now for various construction projects over the state.

Announced in Washington yesterday by Secretary of Commerce Weeks, the allotment is about the same as was granted the state last year under authorization of the federal highway act of 1952.

Secretary Weeks

The funds must be spent within three and a half years. The money is Georgia's share of $575,000,000 in federal aid highway funds being divided among the states.

Georgia highway officials had expected the allotment to be about the same as last year.

The money, which is to be matched by state funds, is to be divided as follows: Primary roads, $6,093,832; secondary roads, $4,654,049; urban highways, $1,965,808, and interstate roads, $621,611.

Ex-Cashier Pleads Guilty to Embezzlement

A 25-year-old Decatur man pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court yesterday to charges that he embezzled $75.97 from the post commissary at Atlanta General Depot.

FBI agents identified him as Robert Stanley White, Rte. 1, Decatur, formerly a cashier at the commissary. They said White admitted he had failed to ring up cigarette sales on several occasions and had pocketed the money himself.

He will be sentenced early in January.

Grantland RICE

(Sports Editor Furman Bisher is on vacation. Filling in for him today is Grantland Rice, sports columnist.)

Ten Sound Teams

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Dec. 28—Bowl week opens with all guns firing on many fronts. Although we are quite a distance from Florida, New Orleans and Dallas, active agents are keeping us up to date from the various camps.

Word comes from Miami that Oklahoma backers still insist Bud Wilkinson's squad has more all-around team speed than Maryland has. Also, that much depends on the playing condition of Maryland's star passing quarterback, Bernie Faloney. If he isn't right for most of the route, Jim Tatum has only an outside chance next Friday.

Rice

Fred Digby, from the Sugar Bowl dugout, announces that, of West Virginia's 42 players, 23 are from the home state, and 10 from right across the border. No far-range scouting for this squad, which is a wholesome situation.

"Somebody," writes Digby, "wrote that West Virginia was white meat for Georgia Tech."

"There's no white meat in West Virginia," coach Art Lewis countered. "All West Virginia meat is deer, bear and wild turkey, all dark and reasonably tough."

—Gator Bowl Could Be Thriller

Digby is also impressed with the power, speed and size of the West Virginians.

Jacksonville is much excited about the 'Gator Bowl, where Auburn faces Texas Tech.

Here are two teams of better-than-average strength, evenly matched, which is all any bowl department can ask for. This is certain to be a close, exciting game for both have the needed backfield and line manpower, which is a considerable part of football.

Looking over the five bowls listed, headed by the 100,000-attendance Rose Bowl session, we find nearly every game practically an even choice.

—Mountaineers Biggest Since BC

This is true of Michigan State and UCLA, close to an even-break affair. UCLA has Paul Cameron to offer against a slightly better Spartan backfield. The Uclans have a slightly stronger line. Both Red Sanders and Biggie Munn are past masters at getting their squads ready.

Associated Press Wirephoto

IF FALONEY CAN'T GO THIS SUB IS READY

Charlie Boxold (R), Jim Tatum (C) Wait on Knee Report

The same measure is true in lining up Maryland and Oklahoma, Alabama and Rice, Georgia Tech and West Virginia, Auburn and Texas Tech.

These are 10 good, sound teams. West Virginia is the only experiment, as Eastern teams have shone none too radiantly in their bowl affairs. But the Mountaineers can be a surprise against a Georgia Tech team not as strong as the 1952 delegation. This West Virginia outfit is the biggest team that has played in the Sugar Bowl since Frank Leahy's 1940 Boston College team, which beat Tennessee. The Mountaineers have speed.

It may be that I've seen two harder workers than Red Sanders and Biggie Munn, but I can't recall where or when. This is the first Rose Bowl shot for each. Munn has almost completely dominated the Big Ten and Notre Dame for four or five years, and Sanders has moved into the front rank of the Pacific slope in the last two years.

Boxold To Start At QB for Terps

Limping Bernie Faloney's Condition Frets Jim Tatum

MIAMI, Dec. 28 (AP)—The key performers in Friday's Orange Bowl football game may be quarterbacks Charlie Boxold, named Monday to start for Maryland, and Gene Calame of Oklahoma, who were carefree second stringers back in September.

Boxold's chance to show 69,839 fans present and many more on television (CBS) just how good the mythical national champions are was created by Bernie Faloney's knee injury.

Calame worked his way out of obscurity after Oklahoma lost its first game to Notre Dame and was tied by Pitt in the next with Coach Bud Wilkinson's first quarterback choice, Buddy Leake.

Calame showed up in the third game with Texas and Oklahoma won all the rest of the way.

Both juniors, Boxold and Calame started their college football lives at positions other than their present roles of the guy in charge.

Coach Jim Tatum announced late today that Boxold would start for Maryland in Faloney's place.

"We'll see if he can carry the load," Tatum said. "If he can't, then we'll have Faloney to try to fire up the team."

He said he feared that if he started Faloney and he was injured again, "the rest of the team might feel that all was lost."

Boxold started as a freshman fullback at Maryland. Last season he didn't get even warmed up as a transformed halfback. He carried the ball five times in the first game with Missouri, broke his leg and was out for the season.

He has had plenty of playing experience with the second string. Coach Jim Tatum used it for mostly all the second and fourth quarters.

Spartans, Bruins Still a Tossup

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 28 (AP)—Football experts got down to the serious business of analyzing the respective merits of Michigan State College's Spartans and the Bruins of UCLA today and wound up just about where they began as far as guessing the winner of the Rose Bowl contest.

Coach Clarence (Biggie) Munn aided the study by disclosing his starting eleven. It had brought no surprise despite the fact that Munn had been using several so-called second stringers in the No. 1 line lineup last week.

The starters, as in virtually every one of the nine games played in the regular season, will be quarterback Tom Yewcic and the pony backfield of halves Le Roy Bolden and Billy Wells and fullback Evan Slonac.

Bill (Red) Quinlan and All-America Don Dohoney start at the ends, Jim Jebb and Larry Fowler at tackle, Ferris Hallmark and Henry Bullough at guard and Jim Neal at center.

Henry R. (Red) Sanders, the UCLA coach, has not designated his starting crew but the backfield very likely will include All-America Paul Cameron at left halfback, Bill Stits at right half, Pete Dailey at fullback and Don Foster at quarterback.

Passes May Fill Cotton Bowl Air

DALLAS, Dec. 28 (AP)—Look for some old-fashioned Southwest Conference passing Friday when Alabama and Rice, a couple of teams that haven't been throwing the ball around promiscuously up to now, get togther in the Cotton Bowl.

Maryland's responsible — yes, Maryland, the team that was rated No. 1 in the nation and is in Miami now preparing for the Orange Bowl game with Oklahoma.

Nov. 21 Maryland beat Alabama 21-0. In the first half the Crimson Tide tried to run on the Terrapins and was thwarted by a great line. In the second half Bart Starr, the sophomore Alabama quarterback, started throwing passes. He connected on 12 of 23 for 226 yards.

Alabama is fundamentally a ground team—it rolled up 2,046 yards rushing in 11 games during the season while compiling a record of six victories, two defeats and three ties and winning the Southeastern Conference championship. But this Starr boy can pass about as good as anybody. He averaged 49.6 on his throws the past season, completing 59 out of 119 for 870 yards and eight touchdowns.

Rice did even less passing than Alabama as the rugged, speedy Owls romped to 2,735 yards rushing in 10 games for an 8-2 record with Kosse Johnson as the carver and Dicky Moegle the sweeper—through the line and around the ends. And Rice tried only 135 passes and connected on 57. It was one of the all-time lows in passing for a team in the once wild-throwing Southwest Conference.

Decatur Star Signs Contract With Jackets

Charlie Maynard, who quarterbacked Decatur to the region 4-AA title this year, yesterday signed a Georgia Tech grant-in-aid.

Maynard hopes to follow in the footsteps of quarterbacks Frank Broyles and Jimmy Southard, who leaped from Decatur to football stardom at Tech.

The latest Tech signee was picked on the coaches' all-state team.

He is also a basketball standout at Decatur.

Maynard is 17, packs 165 pounds on a six-foot frame.

Trabert and Seixas Take Doubles Easily

Vic Great, but Tony's Play Cinches Win in Crucial Match; U.S. Leads 2-1

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE, Dec. 29 (Tuesday) (AP)—Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas, teaming in perfect unison, swamped Australia's Lewis Hoad and Rex Hartwig, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4, today in the crucial doubles match to send the United States into a 2-1 lead in the Davis Cup challenge round.

Trabert and Seixas, who have had difficulty playing together for the past two years, never were more magnificent. They took everything the Aussies threw at them and returned it in kind.

Now the Americans have a definite advantage, for they must win only one of the two remaining singles matches tomorrow. Trabert will play Hoad and Seixas will meet Ken Rosewall, the 19-year-old youngster who was benched in the opening singles.

And the way Trabert has been performing, there is not any amateur in the world who can lick him.

Seixas regained his lost confidence and touch, but it was the University of Cincinnati collegian who was the big gun. Tony, the American champion, was all over the court. Kill after kill he slammed back at the befuddled Australians and they could do nothing about it.

Hoad was good, too, but Hartwig, making his first appearance in Davis Cup competition, was nervous. He played cautiously—perhaps too cautiously—and that proved his undoing to a great extent.

He made most of the errors and the Americans kept him back on his heels time and again. Rex, one of the Aussies' second-line players, had been practicing with Hoad for a week in anticipation of such an emergency, but they never had played in a major tournament together.

The capacity crowd of 17,500 that filled every last nook of the Kooyong Stadium, sensed there was something wrong at the very start. Hoad and Hartwig did not play smoothly at all, while Trabert and Seixas seemed to complement each other perfectly.

The Americans only managed to break Hoad's service once, but this in itself was a feat of no mean proportions. Lew, who is only 19 years old and has a cannonball delivery that can send the best of players back on their heels, had to carry most of the burden.

But in the seventh game of the first set, with the Yanks getting stronger with every stroke, they broke Lew with the loss of only two points. But here, too, it was largely Hartwig who hurt the Aussies. He missed three relatively easy shots.

Texas Tech's Cavazos Reached Within One Point of Scoring Title

Made Four Touchdowns, 169 Yards Rushing in Pacing Win Over Arizona

By EDWIN POPE
Constitution Sports Writer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 28—Texas Tech's Bobby Cavazos was raised on the King Ranch that produced Assault and Middleground, and cowhands there solemnly swear that the two Kentucky Derby winners aren't a stride better than the 190-pound Red Raider halfback.

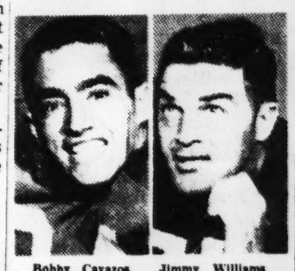

"He may not be," twangs Tech coach DeWitt Weaver, "the best all-around football player in the country, but he hits that handoff faster than anyone I've ever seen."

Cavazos (pronounced Kah-vah'-zos) is target No. 1 for Auburn's plainsmen in the Gator Bowl here New Year's Day.

The six-foot, 22-year-old senior knocked off 80 points—within one point of the National scoring high this season. He has one particularly dynamic running pattern. He will dart through the right side of the line behind All-Border Conference Jerry Walker, slash back to his left and pick up downfield blocking from All-BC tackle Jimmie Williams. The explosive three-man negotiation hardly is calculated to inspire overconfidence in even the big, rough Auburn defense.

In the Raiders' 52-27 rout of Arizona, Cavazos ran for four touchdowns, had another called back, picked up 169 yards in 13 carries, completed one pass for 17 yards and caught one for nine.

Cavazos' father is foreman of King Ranch and the family bloodline includes Scotch, Irish and Spanish blood. The boy's early forebears came to America in

Bobby Cavazos Jimmy Williams

1734 on a land grant from the King of Spain and now grandpa Cavazos owns a string of Texas oil wells. Teammates jokingly call Bobby "Wetback" (after the Mexicans who swam the Rio Grande to enter this country) but the kid takes it smiling with a temperament that apparently is just right for everything.

He was voted the most popular man on the Lubbock campus, is a good student and honor military cadet. His brother recently returned from Korea wearing the Distinguished Service Cross, Silver Star, Bronze Star and Purple Heart.

Bobby caught a cold over Christmas while branding cows in near-freezing weather down on the ranch, but the Florida climate has been just what the doctor ordered. He galloped full tilt as the Raiders worked out this afternoon at Jacksonville Beach.

Auburn's team and the vanguard of 12,000 Plainsmen followers pulled in tonight at 9:30 and plan their first drill at the Jacksonville baseball park tomorrow.

THE BRIEFCASE: Weaver is revelling in a real homecoming. He attended Jackson High here before going to the University of Tennessee and almost got the head coaching job at Fletcher High after finishing up for the Vols. The raiders are practicing on the Fletcher field at the Beach. Weaver's mother, a brother, a sister, an uncle and two cousins live here. Weaver spoke candidly of his club at a Kiwanis luncheon today. He called his backs "the fastest bunch I've ever coached" and said flatly that Auburn would have to score four touchdowns to win . . . He also tabs quarterback Jack Kirkpatrick as the best sophomore T-man in America . . . Three thousand Texas Tech rooters will be in for Friday's classic.

Old Georgia lineman Wyatt Posey, now a raider aide, dropped by to see his former Yale boss Herman Hickman at the fatman's new Ponte Vedra Beach home but Hickman hadn't moved in yet . . . Tonight was Texas Tech night at a local dog-track.

Jackets Not Counting On Hardeman Jan. 1

Brannon Subs for Muggsy; Squad Off to New Orleans

By JESSE OUTLAR

Coach Bobby Dodd yesterday ended the hullabaloo over whether Leon Hardeman would play in the Sugar Bowl game against West Virginia.

He will. But not much.

As one of the Georgia Tech assistants put it: "Hardeman is not being counted on as a factor."

Hardeman, one of the greatest Tech backs of all time, missed the last two games with a badly bruised hip. He ran signal drills yesterday for the first time in five weeks, as the Jackets ended their holiday break with an indoor workout.

With the exception of tackle Roger Frey, who won't dress out for game, the rest of the Tech squad is in good shape.

Chuck Brannon will continue to wear Hardeman's starting shoes at left half. In fact, Tech will open with the same lineup employed against Georgia.

Peerless Pepper Rodgers will be at quarterback, Bill Teas at right half and Glenn Turner at fullback. Up front, it will be Dave Davis and Sam Hensley, ends; Bob Sherman and Ed Gossage, tackles; Orville Vereen and Jake Shoemaker, guards, and Larry Morris, center.

Franklin Brooks, out since the Notre Dame fracas, will see plenty of duty at guard, but won't answer the opening whistle.

A full-scale drill had been planned yesterday, but rain drove the Jackets into the gym. Morale was high during the half-hour session, which was the final workout here.

The team will fly to New Orleans today at 12:45 p.m. and buckle down to business in the Sugar Bowl Stadium shortly after arriving.

While Tech players were at home eating Christmas turkey, West Virginia was scrimmaging daily at its Biloxi headquarters. And, as usual, some skeptics say that Tech is taking the game too lightly.

It was the same story a year ago. Tech players took a holiday. Ole Miss engaged in furious scrimmages. As you'll recall, the final score in the Sugar Bowl was: Georgia Tech 24, Old Miss 7.

Dodd sidesteps a discussion on the contrasting conditioning system. "You never know until after the game starts, whether you have used the right training program," he says.

The fact that Dodd has carried four Tech teams into bowls and never lost a game should throw some light on that subject.

The Tech boss plans little rough work in New Orleans, and no scrimmages are booked. The remainder of the week will be devoted to dummy drills and lots of running.

If the Tech staff is worried over West Virginia, it wasn't obvious yesterday. After the players had completed their drill, coaches split up and staged a spirited basketball game.

DUQUESNE MOVES TO SECOND

Kentucky Replaces Indiana As Nation's No. 1 Quintet

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Kentucky's unbeaten Wildcats held a comfortable lead over the field today as the college basketball season reached the stage where holiday tournaments outweighed season records in immediate importance.

Kentucky moved to the top in the weekly Associated Press ranking poll after Indiana, last season's NCAA champions, suffered its first defeat of the season.

The Wildcats won their own holiday tournament last week, racking up highly regarded La Salle, 73-60, in the final for their sixth straight victory this season.

On the same night—Jan. 22—Indiana's Hoosiers dropped a 67-51 decision to Oregon State, a team they had beaten in overtime the night before. That first loss after six victories dropped Indiana into third place in the rankings. The Hoosiers still received strong support from the voters, who evidently gave some consideration to the fact that the game was played in Oregon State's home territory where fans were all for the Beavers.

Duquesne, another unbeaten team which shellacked New York University Saturday in the first round of the Madison Square Garden tournament, coasted into second place on the strength of this eighth collegiate victory in an unbroken string. The balloting took into consideration records up through the Saturday games.

The big changes in the rankings as the result of last week's games, were the sudden rise of Oregon State after beating Indiana and a general broadening of the race for top honors.

Oregon State moved up from 12th place to fourth in the rankings; Oklahoma A. and M., with a 9-1 record for the season, remained in a standstill in the fifth spot while Illinois, idle since losing to the Oklahoma Aggies a week ago, dropped from fourth to eighth.

Six of the top 10 teams were scheduled for tournament action this week—Oregon State and North Carolina State in the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N.C., Duquesne in the Garden Holiday Festival, Oklahoma A. and M. in the All-College tournament at Oklahoma City, Western Kentucky in the Louisville tournament and Fordham in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.

GTC Profs Beat Gators In Scoring Rampage, 99-86

By EDWIN POPE
Constitution Sports Writer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 28—Georgia wiped out a halftime deficit with a burning third-quarter drive, then froze the ball the final two innings of play for a tense 66-64 victory over Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl basketball tournament tonight.

Georgia Teachers' College cut loose with a fantastic second-quarter rally to whip Florida, 99-86, in the nightcap. Trailing 23-16, J. B. Scearce's Professors then scorched the basket for 23 points while the Gators were staggering to a mere three. That built a 39-26 lead which the Profs ran to 53-34 by halftime.

Tech faces GTC for the first time in history in tomorrow night's first game, after which Georgia plays Florida. This third annual meet originally was announced as a double elimination affair but plans were switched to keep all four teams for three days. The title will be decided on a won and lost percentage basis, which could result in a three-way tie for the title. Georgia plays GTC Wednesday and Florida meets Tech.

Bulldog Bubba Potts busted a 64-64 tie with a little over 120 seconds left on two free throws. Then Murphy McManus, Emory Clements, Al Parrish and Lou McGee worked a brilliant freeze.

Ironically, freshman Danny McGregor was both goat and hero for Tech. The freshman from Richmond Academy fired the free throw that gave Tech an 18-18 tie—first time the Jackets pulled even—in the second quarter. Then his foul on Potts enabled the big Newnan boy to sink the winning goals.

From that early 18-18 deadlock, Tech went on to a 30-28 halftime lead. Whatever Red Lawson told his Bulldogs at the intermission was dynamically effective for they barreled back on an eight-point spree before Tech even scored in the third quarter. Parrish got two field goals, Doug Foster one and Potts the other in the rally that gave Georgia a 36-30 margin. The Bulldogs never trailed again, although the Jackets approached to 44-46 at the end of the third quarter, then 46-47, 52-53, 61-62 and finally 64-64.

The second-half surge of Parrish, six-six sophomore center from Adel, enabled him to lead the well-balanced Georgia attack with 13. Potts had 11, Clements 10, McGee 8 and freshman Bill Ensley 7. Clements was the big rebounding wheel in the last half, snatching 11 off the board.

Sophomore Roger Bolton topped Tech with 14 points. McGregor got 10, fellow freshman Gary Phillips 9 and Dick Linholt the same number. Sophomore forward Bill Cohen, Coach Whack Hyder's highest returning scorer from last year's team with 225 points, spent the night on the bench in an obvious attempt by Hyder to get the six-six hook-shot expert going full steam again.

It was Georgia's third victory against three defeats and gave the Bulldogs a 1-0 margin over their arch rivals for the new season. They meet twice more this campaign. Tech now has an 0-3 record for the year.

The Teachers' 99-point burst obliterated the old tournament scoring record of 85, as did Florida's own losing record.

Horace Belflower topped GTC scorers with 20 points. Three other Professors — David Harris, Chester Webb and Boby Phillips—had 19 each. Sonny Powell clicked for 17 Florida points.

Aggies Contain Rebels' Offense

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 28 (AP)—Mississippi, the nation's highest scoring team, was slowed to a snail's pace tonight as the Oklahoma Aggies bounced Ole Miss in the first round of the 18th annual All-College backetball tournament, 59,42, before 5,500.

In the opening game, Oklahoma City University defeated Furman, 82-70.

The Aggies and OCU meet in the semifinals Wednesday night. Tomorrow night Wyoming plays Cincinnati and Tulsa takes on Santa Clara in first round games.

Niagara Upsets La Salle, 69-50

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Underrated Niagara scored 15 straight points midway in the first half and went on to outrun La Salle, 69-50, in the semifinals of the Madison Square Garden holiday basketball festival tonight.

The Eagles joined Duquesne, 69-47 winner over Brigham Young, in the finals.

Texas Routs Bama; Rice, Arkansas Win

HOUSTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—Texas dominated the backboards in the second half tonight to defeat Alabama 72-52 and join Southern Methodist, Arkansas and undefeated Rice in the semifinals of the third annual Southwest Conference Basketball tournament.

Tomorrow night's pairings match Texas against Arkansas, a 60-50 winner this afternoon against Texas Christian, and Rice against Southern Methodist.

Rice won its eighth game in a row tonight with an easy 55-43 verdict over Texas A&M, while Southern Methodist, the defending tournament champion, eliminated Baylor, 55-50.

Odds Are 9-1 Against Rain At Rose Bowl

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28 (AP)—The weatherman, asked today about the possibility of rain at the New Year's Day Rose parade and Rose Bowl football game in nearby Pasadena, had this to say:

"The records indicate that there is but one chance in nine that it might rain on this date. However, it has been approximately 12 years since it last rained on this date, which would shorten the odds against rain by a good deal.

Duke Hustle Upsets Oregon State, 71-61

Wake Forest Trims Tulane; N. C. State Nips Seton Hall

RALEIGH, N.C., Dec. 28—(UP)—Defending champion North Carolina State sled three co-hosts and a battling Navy team into the semifinals of the fifth annual Dixie Basketball Classic today as co-favorite Oregon State was upset by Duke in the first round before a record 23,600 fans.

North Carolina State edged Seton Hall in a 72-70 thriller, Navy walloped North Carolina 86-62, and Wake Forest defeated Tulane in the opening round finale 72-65 tonight.

But the biggest triumph went to Duke.

The Blue Devils knocked off the highly-rated Beavers of Oregon State, conqueror of Indiana last week, by a convincing 71-61 count in one of the biggest upsets of Classic history.

Semifinal pairings tomorrow sent North Carolina State against Navy and Duke against Wake Forest. In the consolation bracket, North Carolina plays Seton Hall and Oregon State meets Tulane.

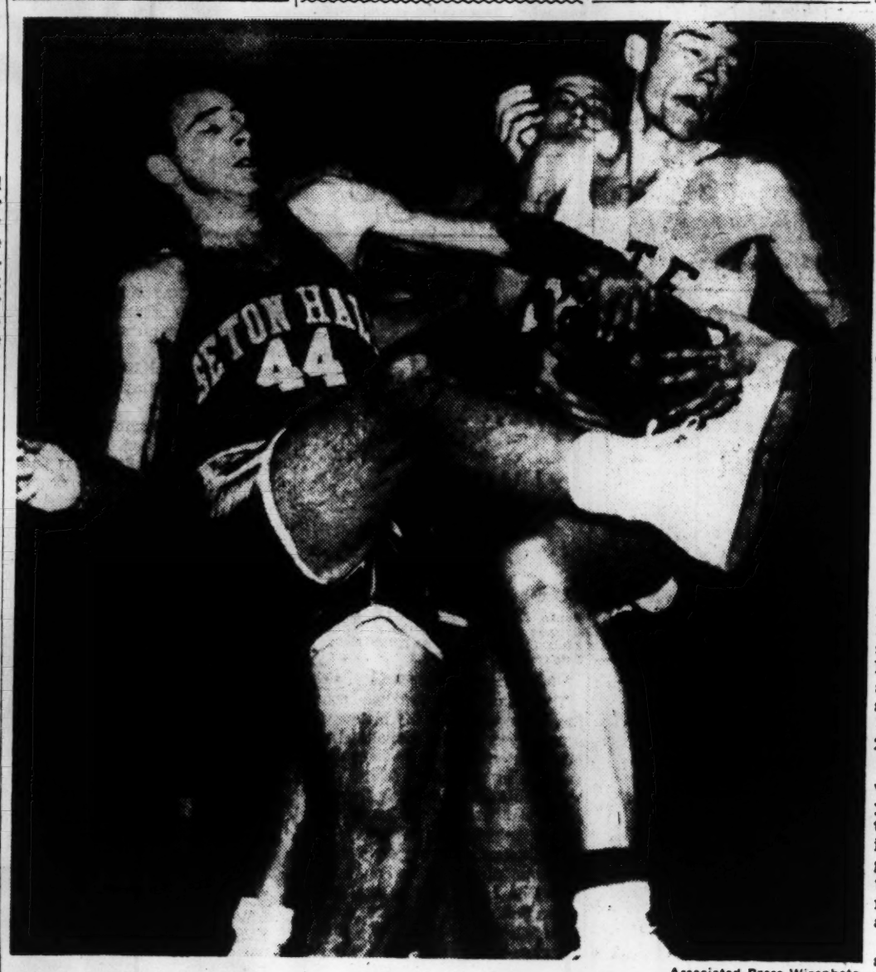

It was the first time in the five-year history of the Dixie Classic that three host teams have come through with first round victories.

Tulane bottled up Wake Forest's great center, Dickie Hemric, holding him to 13 points—the lowest game total in his college career. But the Greenies couldn't handle skinny little Lowell (Lefty) Davis, the Deacons' sharpshooting forward who bucketed 25 points.

Two swift Duke guards, five-foot 11-inch Joe Belmont and six-foot "Shorty" Rudy D'Emilio, scored 19 points each as the Blue Devils routed the Pacific Coast stars and their highly-touted seven-foot-three center Wade (Swede) Halbrook. Halbrook got 23 points in the losing cause.

It was Duke's first first-round victory in the Dixie Classic in five years of the tournament and there has been no bigger upset in the tournament's records. Oregon State, ranked 11th in the nation last week, had beaten first-ranked Indiana less than a week ago.

Duke led at halftime, 35 to 28, after leading, 20-17, at the end of the first 10 minutes. At the end of the third it was 53-42, with Duke in front.

Marist Builds Attack Around Joe Grotenrath

Fifteen-Year-Old Forward Jumps From Bee Squad Into Star Role

By GENE ASHER

Joe Grotenrath, who last year as a 14-year-old freshman hardly expected to become a varsity regular after one season as a "B" teamer, is the new cage rage at Marist.

The young six-footer is Marist's leading scorer, ruler of both boards and a fine ball handler. He's connecting on 37 per cent of his shots and his dominance of the offensive and defensive backboards has been a major reason why the Cadets have scored over 50 points per game.

Says coach Boots Payne, "Joe's improvement is remarkable. We knew he would help us as a junior but we never expected him to stand out as a sophomore."

Grotenrath joins returning regulars Joe McGee, Bubber Brisbane, Crawford Murphy and Frank Galvin in the starting lineup.

In pre-holiday play, Marist had a dismal record of two wins and seven losses. But Payne is optimistic and thinks the last game before vacation in which Marist scored 28 points in the last period to beat Chambers, 63-59, may have been the turning point.

"We're improving," states Payne, "and offensively, we'll hold our own with any club in the league."

Payne will take his own Brisbane, McGee, Grotenrath and Galvin "over any four players in 4AA circles as far as shooting from the outside is concerned."

Defensively, it is a different situation. The Cadets have been unable to prevent opponents from scoring, and that is a vital problem Payne must solve before activity continues next Tuesday.

McGee and Galvin are carrying the brunt of the defensive burden but Payne may get help from "B" team graduates Harvey Enloe, Moe Cotter and Tom Skinner.

In regard to the 4AA title race, Payne looks for Russell and Griffin to set the pace but adds, "We'll be no pushover. If improvement is shown defensively, this team has possibilities."

Northside Wins

Northside's basketball teams, tuning up for the forthcoming City League race, took a double-header from Marietta last night on the Northside court. The boys squeezed out at 52-48 decision, while the girls breezed, 45-38.

Golf for All

Dick Edwards' Pappy 'Shows Off' With Ace

By Jimmy Mann

MAYBE IT'S NOT the shot of the year at East Lake, but for Sam Edwards, Sunday's hole-in-one was the shot of 18 years for him.

Jimmy Mann

Edwards hammered a five-iron across the watery hazards on the sixth hole for his first ace in 18 years of pill pounding.

Dick Edwards, young East Lake low handicapper and son of Sam, was along to witness his dad's blow, as was George Griffeth.

It was the first day for winter rules at the club and Sam thinks he's going to like the change very much.

WEST END people couldn't believe their ears the other day when Billy McDonald issued his club house challenge to play anybody there even. He had five quick takers that emptied the club house.

McDonald, out-of-town member who was visiting for the holidays, turned the stubborn little pasture in 72 blows and sent George Edwards, Jimmy Pinnell, Acie Bond, Bill Boyd and Wilbur Owen in shaking their heads and pockets.

PEEPING AT score cards: Billy Gibson took 11 strokes to down the agate on the par three third at Bobby Jones. Wade Thomas hit three balls out of bounds on the 11th at Jones and he ended the par five hole with 12 shots.

The par four seventh at Piedmont cost James Jarvis and Bill Freemon each 10 tries.

And then there's Atlanta's most honest man, Harmon Stallings who dunked five balls in the water on the second hole at North Fulton before he finally navigated the lake and finished the par fiver with 18 shots.

What it was, was golf!

TEDDY HAYES at the Key Club reports his most improved player of the year is Frank Maloof. Of course it really isn't fair because last January Maloof thought an eagle meant the symbol of the United States, an ace was a card, a chip was a piece of wood and 76 was something that brought the flutes, drums and flags.

But just since last June, Maloof has come from the ranks of beginner to a steady 76 player.

H. G. MANN turned in a 40 at Key a week ago. It was his best in a lifetime. . . . Jimmy Johnson posted a 38 at the same course, his best ever. . . . Sam Berry, Sam Anderson and Paul Ford were blind bogey winners at West End. . . . E. D. Estes, John Morris, T. E. McGeachy and R. J. Prentiss took dog fite honors at East Lake. . . . How many times has this been said: "Drinking and driving don't mix." Christmas morning a fellow who obviously had over-indulged the night before topped a ball off the first tee at Bobby Jones and in his disgust broke the driver which had made the trip from the North Pole with Santa the night before. He got one shot with the club, or was it a shot? Don Persons witnessed the stunt. . . . And Santa brought Billy Williamson 12 new autographed golf balls for Christmas, three of them were lost in action at North Fulton Sunday. He says they didn't have those little cuts in them when he got 'em.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Celtic Officials Lash Players, Threaten Slash in Pay Checks

Condensed From Wire Reports

President Walter Brown and Coach Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association took turns blasting the team's personnel at a weekly meeting of the city's basketball writers and broadcasters.

Brown said that the team had too much personnel to play .500 ball and that if they didn't improve he would cut salaries next season.

Auerbach pointed out that his big three—Bob Cousy, Ed MacCauley and Bill Sharman—was the reason for the poor showing this season.

"Cousy is just where he was five years ago. He hits his shots but loses the ball too often. MacCauley isn't mean enough and Sharman is looking for shots."

The Celtics have won 16 this year and dropped 15. They are third in their division behind the New York Knicks and Syracuse.

The Great Lakes Bluejackets lost their best lineman as drills for the New Year's Day Salad Bowl football game with Ft. Ord when Bob Dees, 235-pound former Green Bay Packers tackle, broke his left leg in the opening minute of practice.

Driving rains forced postponement of the semifinals doubles and singles matches in the Sugar Bowl Tennis Tournament.

President Maurice Podoloff of the NBA announced that Joe Smyth belongs to the New York Knicks. Smyth, just discharged from the Army, was claimed by both the New York Club and the Baltimore Colts.

Vince Lombardi, onetime member of the famed Seven Blocks of Granite at Fordham University, was signed to coach the backfield of the New York Giants professional football team.

Jerry Williams, former Washington State football star, who is now a standout for the professional Philadelphia Eagles, said that he would apply for the coaching job at the University of Idaho.

Rocket Ron Neccial was released outright by the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Bucs also sent Bobby DelGreco and Felipe Montemayer to New Orleans.

Al Weill, manager of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, denied that the Rock had signed to fight Danny Nardico in February.

Oscar (Battling) Nelson, former boxing great, has been taken to a hospital. Police said that Nelson was helpless after the death of Mrs. Nelson last week. He is 71 years old.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 28 (AP)—Kentucky, elevated to the nation's top ranking collegiate club, pulled out in the last half to blast sixth rated Minnesota, 74-59, before a crowd of 13,500 tonight.

Kentucky, its attack clicking in spurts, went to the front for keeps early in the second quarter, but it didn't shake the rugged Gophers until near the end of the third period.

Richard Garmaker, a 6-3 junior forward, kept Minnesota in contention with a barrage of one-handed shots and wound up with 23 points. He and Kentucky's Frank Ramsey tied for high honors.

Bobo Olson Named Boxer of the Year

Ring Magazine Nominates Middleweight Over Gavilan

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Carl (Bobo) Olson, the world middleweight champion, has been named "fighter of the year" for 1953 by Ring magazine in a copyrighted article in its February issue. The selection is at odds with the Boxing Writers Association's pick of Kid Gavilan as winner of the Edward J. Neil award.

Editor Nat Fleischer said his staff decided on Olson after considering welter champ Gavilan, heavyweight king Rocky Marciano and lightweight champ Jimmy Carter.

Olsen won all four fights this year, whipping Paddy Young for the American title and defeating Randy Turpin for the world championship. The award was based on outstanding record, personal conduct, inspiration to American youth and reputation for sportsmanship.

The annual year-end ratings reflect a far-reaching shuffle since last year. Every division, except the middleweight and flyweight, has a new No. 1 contender.

Nino Valdes, the Cuban 10-to-1 shot who upset Ezzard Charles and knocked out Heinz Neuhaus in Germany, has replaced Walcott as the leading challenger to Marciano. Harold Johnson of Philadelphia is listed No. 1 behind light heavy champ Archie Moore instead of Joey Maxim.

Basilio sprinted toward the top and the No. 1 challenger recognition to Gavilan. Wallace (Bud Smith) took over from Johnny Gonsalves as top 135-pound contender and Teddy (Red Top) Davis replaced Ray Pamechon in Sandy Saddler's ranking foe in the feather class. Bantam champ Jimmy Carruthers is being chased by Robert Cohen of France.

A Rhyme a Day

"Survey of couples married in their late teens or early twenties reveals surprising number of marriages have lasted."—Article quote.

I said, when I was just a kid . . . I wouldn't marry, but I did . . . like others, I preferred to wait . . . until I had a small estate . . . but when the right girl came along . . . I found that what I thought was wrong.

Since then I've talked to other men . . . who felt the same about it, then . . . before they knew what happened they . . . had sworn to "honor and obey" . . . Of course, there are exceptions to . . . the rule, but any fellow who . . . keeps waiting in the single state . . . until he can afford a mate . . . will be so broken down and old . . . and slow he cannot catch a cold.

Such men are few and far between . . . and I believe, from what I've seen . . . one shouldn't put it off too long . . . but start out when he's young and strong . . . for, knowing old folks couldn't stand it . . . that's the way the Good Lord planned it.

The actual bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 clubs	2 diams.
2 hearts	Pass	2 no tr'mp	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of spades.

The road hog that we sometimes encounter on the highway is a much less sinister individual than his counterpart one so frequently engages at the bridge table.

Not sufficient emphasis has ever been placed upon the partnership factor in bidding. There is too much assumption of responsibility by some player in the making of decisions in doubtful cases, when discretion would call for a consultation with partner. Such a consultation is available by means of the forcing pass, which permits partner to decide. An extreme case of this principle occurs in today's hand.

South opened with one spade and partner responded with two clubs. East, tho vulnerable, came in with two diamonds, and South made what appears to be the very normal rebid of two hearts. North, in view of partner's free rebid, went on to two no trump and South carried on to game. Against the proper opening of the queen of spades, declarer could take no more than eight tricks.

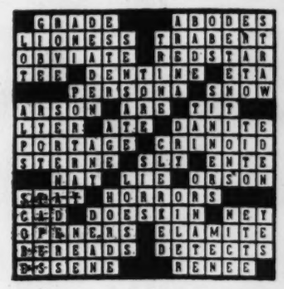

It is South's rebid that is the subject of our observation. North contended that his partner should have passed the two diamond bid around to him. This bid he would have doubled for a set of 800 points. South maintained that there was no way for him to know that his partner could double two diamonds. To which North replied, "You could pass and find out."

"But what if you were unable to do anything over the two diamond bid?" was South's query. North properly contended: "You might have trusted me. With sound values I would hardly permit the opposition to steal the hand from a partner who has opened the bidding."

I am inclined to sympathize with North's view. In fact, several experts to whom this hand was submitted went so far as to double the two diamond bid themselves on the theory that if North had an unbalanced hand he would not stand for the double, and if he had a more or less normal hand that justified entering the two level, the penalty would be adequate.

While this view may be somewhat extreme, nevertheless, it shows a tendency on the part of experienced players to look for vulnerable sets on hands where it is not clearly indicated that a game can be scored.

Helpful Hints On Avoiding Colds

Infections of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are the most frequent causes of illness. These respiratory diseases include the common cold, sinusitis, influenza, bronchitis, pneumonia, and strep throat.

A variety of bacteria and viruses are responsible. The micro-organisms are present in the secretions and are spewed into the air whenever an individual coughs or sneezes.

For years physicians concentrated their efforts on this method of spread; victims of a cold were advised to cover the mouth when coughing and not to breathe or talk directly into the face of another.

The possibility that the organisms could be disseminated through contaminated hands, cooking utensils, food, and linen was overlooked. Nowadays many physicians are convinced this type of contact is responsible for more respiratory infections than the air-borne route.

There is no sure-fire way to avoid colds. Some individuals are more susceptible than others, a fact that must be taken into consideration whenever someone ballyhoos a pet preventive.

I know of men and women who take vitamins and seldom have colds; others take the same vitamins and always have colds. Still others have a natural immunity and seldom are bothered whether or not they take these supplements.

The same can be said of other medications, cold "shots," wearing long underwear, or rubbing goose grease on the chest. There are several cold vaccines but none has proved of value. The influenza vaccine offers more hope.

Respiratory infections can be kept to a minimum by utilizing certain known principles. It is conceivable that by maintaining high resistance through healthful living habits, the germs may find it difficult to establish a beachhead.

For this reason it is advisable to get plenty of rest and to eat properly during times when colds are rife. It also helps to shun those who cough or sneeze.

Mirror of Your Mind

By JOSEPH WHITNEY

Will a jealous girl make a jealous wife?

Answer: She probably will since most forms of jealousy spring from the same basic source: a neurotic need to be loved regardless of one's own behavior. Normal childhood jealousies vanish under healthy family relationships. However, if a young girl remains jealous of her mother's prestige, or her sister's talents, or her friend's clothes, she will in all likelihood become jealous of her husband's ability, his associates, and particularly his feminine acquaintances.

Should you stop your child's boasting

Answer: Yes, if you can do it without undue scolding and humiliation. Your child's boasting, which no doubt includes some "whoppers" about you, probably grows out of a feeling of being ineffective and unappreciated. Negative corrective measures will stifle his imagination and make him feel less effective than ever. If you can help him develop comfortable social relationships and a feeling of successful accomplishment in his day-to-day activities, boasting won't be necessary.

Is "group counseling" always helpful?

Answer: No. This type of mental therapy comprises a discussion group with a trained counselor. Guidance is generally helpful if your problem is common to the prevailing social culture and is shared by most of the others.

For example, if everyone has "job trouble," group discussions and advice can be of great value. But if your problem stems from the dissatisfaction with the culture itself, such as a dislike for society in general, individual counseling is more likely to help.

George Glad To Advise Eisenhower

Happy to 'Listen,' Vinson Declares

Sen. Walter George, invited by President Eisenhower yesterday to attend the Jan. 5 policy conference, says he will be "glad to advise" the administration on any problems that might be discussed.

George, who plans to return from his home at Vienna to Washington over the weekend, said Eisenhower may discuss his recent announcement that two divisions will be withdrawn from Korea.

The veteran senator said he does not know what problems Eisenhower will discuss, but "I shall be glad to talk with him and advise him, insofar as I can."

Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga) said he will be "glad to go down there and listen. I always think it's a good idea for the minority to know what the majority wants to do."

"DEMOCRATIC IDEAS"

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) said he hopes the White House conference will produce "some acceptance of Democratic ideas."

Sen. Mike Monroney (D-Okla) termed the conference a "belated recognition by the President that Democratic votes will be needed to save his program on foreign policy, foreign trade and fiscal stability."

Monroney said that at this date the conference will mean "only a preview of a program in which Democrats had no part even to the extent of making suggestions."

Kefauver, who called on Democratic leaders last week to draft their own legislative program on domestic issues, said he thinks the conference is a good idea.

"AFTER DECISIONS"

"I think it very important we have a bi-partisan approach to defense and foreign affairs," he said. "I think this is good but certainly we would have wider bi-partisan support if Democratic leaders would be consulted in the formulation rather than consulted after decisions were made."

Kefauver said the bi-partisanship on defense and foreign affairs in no way conflicts with his proposal that Democrats draft their own legislative program because, he said, he was referring to such domestic issues as public power and agriculture.

Democratic leaders invited to the conference were absent from Washington and there was very little Republican comment on the President's announcement of the conference.

One GOP House member, Rep. Thomas E. Martin (Iowa), said the President's action "probably" was a good idea. He added: "It was born of necessity."

Turkey Not Wanted By Holiday Burglar

FREEPORT, N. Y., Dec. 28 (UP) Police said today that at least one man apparently wanted no turkey during the holidays.

They were looking for a thief who broke into a meat store and took five pounds of smoked sausages, three pounds of frankfurters, three pounds of knockwurst, a small piece of liverwurst and a case of beer.

West Fears Booby-Trap In Molotov's 'Peace Plan'

munist China, appears here to be an even more serious obstacle to consideration of the Russian proposal for German reunification.

Britain and France might be willing to discuss the holding of such an conference, but it is believed here that it is impossible for Secretary of State Dulles to even talk about anything which might be interpreted as recognition of Red China at present.

To enhance the value of its German plan to the Western Allies, the Soviet Union also is expected to offer to sign the Austrian treaty, according to some sources here.

The creation of a united Germany, vulnerable to Russian imperialist pressure from without and Communist pressure from within, seems to be the objective of Soviet policy toward that country.

This reported plan apparently seeks first an agreement by the four powers on the essentials of the peace treaty. This will include a guarantee by the three Western powers of the Oder-Niesse line as Germany's eastern frontier as a "security pledge" for Eastern Europe.

This, it is pointed out, will take the Russians a step beyond Potsdam. The protocol of that conference says that the territories beyond these two rivers are to be turned over to Polish administration until a German peace settlement.

Another basic Russian position toward the peace treaty is expected to be a four-power agreement on German arms limitation. Such limitation, it is believed, will seek a division of the German defense force into geographical areas and the prohibition of a central command, staff or staff-training organization.

It is pointed out here that this would leave the Soviet Union free to make its own advances to the German military authorities in East Germany, offering facilities in Russia for training in prohibited weapons.

Should these and other peace treaty conditions be accepted, it is believed that the Russians will agree to "free elections" throughout Germany.

This might have considerable propaganda value for Russia, both in Germany and elsewhere in Europe. But the British position is that free elections must be the first step toward German reunification, not one to be taken after the essentials of a German peace treaty have been decided by the four occupation powers.

Battalion Chief William A. Sherrill said this change in the wind has lessened the danger to the observatory, which houses the 100-inch telescope, second largest in the world.

While timber has been thinned on the inhabited crest of 5,887-foot Mt. Wilson, the area has not been cleared of pine trees. There are several wooden buildings in the settlement, including a small resort hotel.

Furniture and other belongings at the observatory were moved inside the steel and concrete telescope building for safety. Most of the women were sent out of the area.

From Gentry's father, who has lived in Polk County since Sept. 23, the sheriff learned that the younger Gentry left for Rome late Friday or early Saturday. A check at Rome revealed that Gentry bought a bus ticket for Chattanooga, and a check at Chattanooga showed that the suspect bought another bus ticket to Kansas City. Redding notified Kansas City officers.

The sheriff said Gentry came to Polk County several months ago and had been living with his father.

121,630 HAIRS

The "average" man brushes 121,630 hairs each morning. In the normal "hair cycle" these hairs grow to maturity, are shed, and replaced by new hairs. Baldness starts when something interrupts this cycle. While authorities differ widely as to the causes, they do generally agree on one point; hygienic care of the hair is important to the maintenance of its health and appearance.

For more than 33 years The Thomas' have specialized in providing precise, hygienic care for the hair and scalp. Such care aids in the removal of embedded dandruff scurf, relieves itch which dandruff may cause, and leaves the scalp glowing with a new, healthy feeling. Sentencer of a Million, Judge Callaway To Retire

By KEELER McCARTNEY

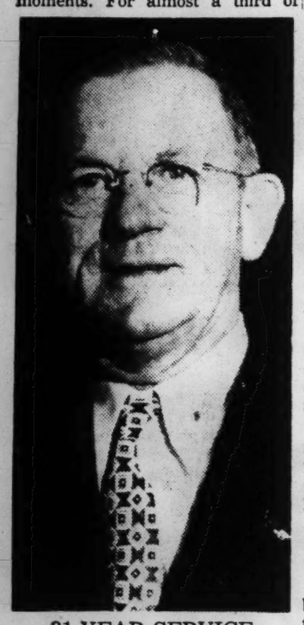

One of the best known, and one of the most respected men in the public life of Atlanta, will become a private citizen on Jan. 1.

When Municipal Judge A. W. Callaway brings down the gavel to close court on Dec. 31, he will be signalling the end of 31 years on the bench—believed to be the longest service of any municipal judge.

Judge Callaway, more commonly called "Jedge," estimates he has faced more than 2,000,000 accused persons since he first was appointed to the bench in 1922 and has sentenced at least 1,000,000 to the City Prison Farm.

OBSERVED PEOPLE

On the judicial bench, the veteran judge has looked down on the great and small, the rich and poor, the humble and meek, as well as the arrogant during their worst moments. For almost a third of a century he has observed the seamy side of the people living in a great city.

31-YEAR SERVICE
Judge Callaway

Has the experience created bitterness in the man?

Not at all. The judge still has a merry twinkle in his bright blue eyes and his trim figure and sandy hair would do credit to a man of 50 much less 70.

"You know," he says, "I'd be willing to tackle it all over again.

"People are not really bad. They sometimes find themselves caught in the web of circumstances. But a little correction laced with sympathy and human understanding generally sets things right. There are some good points in everyone."

FRIENDLY SMILE

Judge Callaway calls many of the thousands who parade before his court by their first names. He has a friendly smile and a pat on the back for everyone, even while imposing a fine or prison sentence for an infraction of the law.

He numbers among his regular "customers" an accountant, who gave up a brilliant career for a bunk in the stockade because he was unable to keep pace with fast moving society. He recalls doctors, lawyers and others who stumbled down the same rocky path to death in a dark alley and an unattended funeral in Potter's Field.

One thing of which the judge is most proud is a campaign promise of 30 years ago. He pledged the people of Atlanta that if elected to the then position of recorder the door to his office would never be closed.

KEEPS PROMISE

Facing dozens by the day and thousands by the month, Judge Callaway has always found time to keep the promise.

He is familiar with the symptons of the sobbing housewife who, having her husband arrested for cruelty, suddenly realizes that support for herself and children is about to be snatched away.

He has found that patience often mends a breach between friends, who called police during a moment of heated argument and later began to wish the incident could be undone.

Judge Callaway is a firm believer in the adage that time will heal most things, and he has guided his career along that line.

POSITION LIKE MIRROR

The late Judge A. L. Etheridge of Fulton Superior Court remarked in 1945 during a ceremony celebrating Judge Callaway's birthday:

"The hard place he occupies is an unrelenting and inescapable mirror. He cannot pull his judicial robes about him and withdraw into the silent book places, there to meditate upon all the facts that make up a judgement which vitally affects the liberty, honor and property of a human being.

"But here, facing dozens by the day and thousands by the year, he must speedily and impartially administer justice.

"The human stream that steadily flows by Judge Callaway brings the great and small; the giant and the midget. It is not too difficult to be patient and be just to the mighty, freshly bathed and well-dressed and those represented by competent counsel. But many who come are poor—without much self control—and weak in mind and body, and are without the benefit of counsel.

"These are treated by Judge Callaway with sympathetic understanding and kindness which raises him to an uncrowned level."

SON OF FARMER

The tall, friendly man who was born at Woolsey, in Fayette County, the son of a typical Georgia dirt farmer, came to Atlanta at the age of 15 to clerk in a store and later operated a store of his own, has this word of advice for young people:

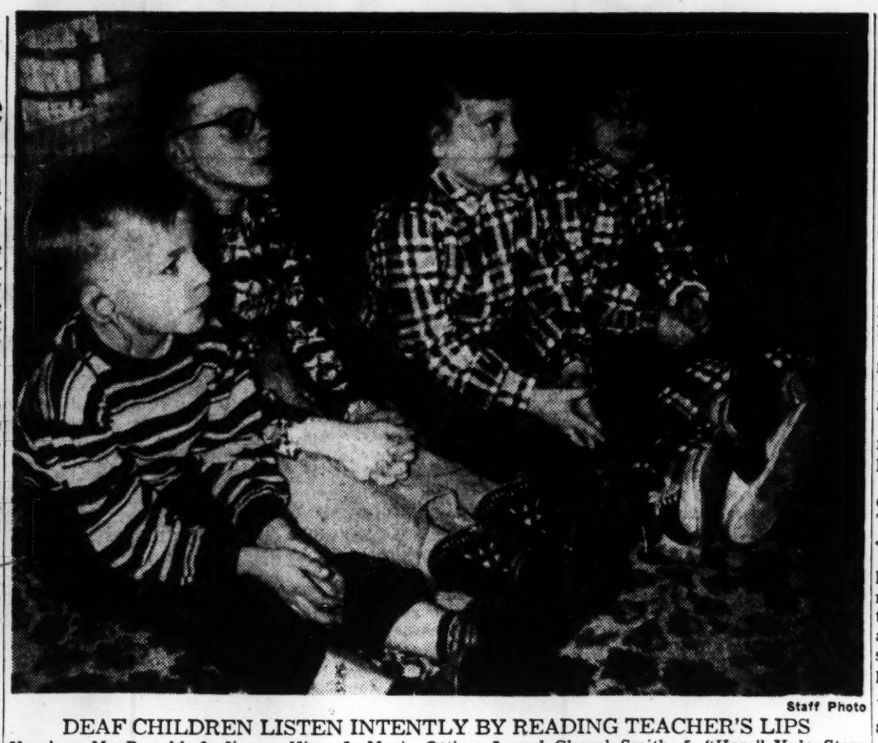

"If you move around, you're going to step in mud. When you do, pull your foot out as gently and carefully as you can. Don't stir it up."

So closes the public career of a man, which started when he joined the City Police force as a patrolman in 1916. He was appointed to Municipal Court upon the death of Judge George E. Johnson in 1922 and later was elected to his first term in office.

What will he do when the gavel bangs out his final moment on the bench next Thursday afternoon.

"That's the $64 question," he smiles.

Then, with a more serious countenance, he muses: "Just what do unemployed judges do—I wonder."

MISSION AIDS BOBBY

Children Taught To Hear and Talk

By HERSCHEL CRIBB

Bobby is a blue-eyed, handsome four-year-old who can run like a rabbit and scream like a banshee, just like any other boy.

But Bobby couldn't talk before a graying, kindly former Southern Baptist Mission Board worker took him in hand.

She is Mrs. J. Carl Brittain of 309 Moreland Ave., NE. She bought the house and start d her "Michael Mission for the Deaf" there with money donated by a Baptist businessman from Tennessee who had heard her speak in his church on missions for the deaf. He stipulated with his donation that his name not be made public.

SEVEN CHILDREN

Today, Mrs. Brittain has seven children — five boys, two girls—who live in her home and are fed, clothed and taught by her. The money comes from Atlanta church groups and interested individuals who wish to help her work. No organized charity contributes to the mission's support.

LEARNS TO TALK
Bobby Clay, Mrs. Brittain

Three friends, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. DeLozier and Mrs. Maude Cover, carry three of the children to the Junior Speech clinic on Peachtree road on weekdays. The Red Cross brings them home.

Mrs. Brittain teaches the children the simple rudiments of speech, mainly vowels, and then sends them on to the speech clinic.

One of Mrs. Brittain's daily duties is to tune the hearing aid of each youngster after he or she gets up in the morning. The battery, which must be removed each night, is replaced.

LIP READING

Her teaching is based on lip reading. She never makes the conventional deaf signs before a child and will repeat the sound she is making many times until the child achieves it with his own voice.

If he has difficulty, she may tell him to watch her tonguge as she slowly repeats, or else place his hand on her throat as she pronounces.

She stresses that her speech teaching is only preliminary and that the "excellent teachers at the speech clinic are the real masters."

Her main function, as she sees it, is to give the children home surroundings while starting them toward talking.

Mrs. Brittain says she became convinced she would help the deaf as she sat in church one night watching an interpreter, himself deaf, translating the sermon to a part of the audience.

She learned the signs and became an interpreter herself.

She has mainly done court work, where she interprets testimony of deaf persons for the judge and jury, and translated sermons in church. She continues both works today.

Southeast CD Headquarters Move Seen

Reliable sources have reported that federal civil defense headquarters for the Southeast will be moved from Atlanta to Thomasville early in 1954.

The move is believed to be planned in order to shift the important coordination center of all CD activities in seven states away from industrial Atlanta. Atlanta is considered a critical target area.

Federal officials contacted refused to confirm or deny the report.

But observers said the regional office would be transferred to Thomasville some time in late January or early February.

The observers said Thomasville has been selected because air and rail transportation and radio and telephone communication is available there, and because it is a safe distance away from important military targets.

OUR NEGRO COMMUNITY

Evangelist Launches Drive To Cut Murder Rate Here

By CLAUDE GEORGE SR.

The Rev. Taschereau Arnold, well-known Baptist evangelist, yesterday expressed alarm at the high rate of murders among Negroes in the Atlanta area and announced plans for a one-man crusade aimed at solving the problem.

The Rev. Mr. Arnold said the problem is particularly bad in Atlanta because a large number of Negroes who have moved here from small towns and remote rural sections "find themselves unprepared socially and economically to cope with city life."

T. Arnold

These people, he said, feel they are rejected by Negroes of higher income groups and therefore become bitter. Some of them are apt to commit murder without provocation.

Love spats constitute a leading cause of murder among Atlanta's Negroes, he said.

Sweethearts who make false promises to each other and wives and husbands who doublecross each other often end on the homicide list.

He pointed out that in 1952 Atlanta police records show there were 86 cases of homicide among Negroes.

The Rev. Mr. Arnold said the first step in his crusade will be to seek support for making movies based on Negro murder cases. He said he plans to show the films in churches and to other Negro organizations.

Emancipation Day

The 90th celebration exercises of the Emancipation Proclamation will begin on New Year's Day with a parade.

Parade units will assemble at the Herndon Stadium at 11 a.m. Parade route will be to Mitchell street to Courtland street and to the Municipal Auditorium.

Dr. J. H. Jackson, president of the National Baptist Convention of Chicago, Ill., will be the principal speaker. He will be introduced by Dr. L. A. Pinkston, first vice-president of the convention. Attorney A. T. Walden will serve as master of ceremonies.

Ministers who will make an appeal for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People are Dr. M. L. King, the Rev. J. A. Hurley and Bishop J. W. E. Bowen.

The newly-organized Youth Chapter of the NAACP will be presented for the first time by C. L. Harper, president of the Atlanta branch.

Drugstore Chairs Add To Homes

By DOTTY LUNDY

In colors as bright as the strawberry pop the gang used to slosh on them at the corner soda emporium, drugstore chairs have practically become 20th century antiques.

"Lifted" from the pharmacy like apothecary jars, these outlandish, contorted iron chairs and tables are collector's items for almost every room in the house. Originally restricted to basement or rathskeller, ice cream furniture has made its way to boudoir and breakfast nook.

FOR EVERY ROOM

Paint them white for the backyard, porch or terrace. For the den or basement playroom, a vivid hue like kelly or red is appropriate. In daughter's room, ice blue or pink is pretty, teamed with frilly flounces and curtains.

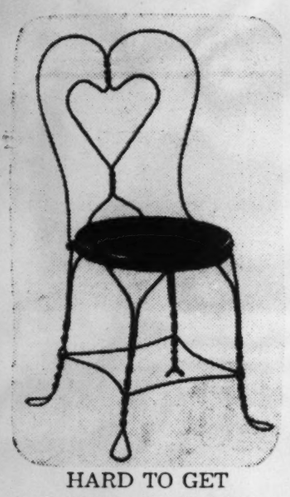

Pickings may be lean if you are searching for the original item (cira 1900). Mrs. H. Prentice Miller of 1301 Emory Circle, NE, practically unseated a man for one of hers. He happened to be sitting in it when she spied the chair in a junk yard. Another was salvaged from a newspaper office in Warrenton. Mrs. Miller painted them blue for daughter Sherry's room.

Mrs. Randolph Fort of 1082 E. Clifton Rd., NE, uses hers in her kitchen which she found at junk shops and secondhand furniture dealers'.

FROM NEW ORLEANS

A news vender in New Orleans used to stack papers on a chair the Harold Caplans use at their home on 592 Clifton Way, NE. Her table, which Mrs. Caplan got from her mother, originally came from a pawn shop.

Another homemaker salvaged four from an old garage. She waxed the seats, which had been worn shiny from backroom poker games.

MARY HAWORTH

Woman Laments Vicious Small-Town Gossips

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Every year many lives are damaged and untold misery caused by malicious gossip. I live in a smallish town of about 5,000 inhabitants, and the kind of vicious gossip that goes on here is sickening. Nobody is completely safe and you begin to wonder who the next victim may be.

One very worthwhile woman, a very good friend of mine, has been the victim of another woman, whose jealousy and hatred caused her to launch vicious lies about my friend's moral character. And these lies have spread, perhaps more readily because of the high standing of the innocent victim.

In this case the sadistic gossiping woman denied her guilt, of course; but she brought heart trouble upon herself and died of a heart attack—so you can see the horrible consequences of her malevolent bias. I feel it is unfortunate that society isn't better instructed about this evil.

True, some gossip is warranted; but a good deal of the ruinous speculation circulated in small towns today is manufactured—and nothing travels faster than slanderous rumor. Won't you please advise how to head off this sort of thing, or cure people of it? V. S.

DEAR V. S.: You certainly have a point, in lamenting the fact that people don't realize the destructive nature of gossip, which habitually practiced, actually can kill the gossiper, indirectly. It is malice, the evil, the hatred implicit in the emotional attack on another's experience that does the damage to the speaker, by choking off the potential health within himself.

As for how to head off gossip, or cure people of it, I suppose the most effective antidote within your power is to live above it personally. Don't fear it, and don't be a party to it. Don't let it agitate your thinking and it can't hurt you. If your friends are maliciously talked about, don't get exercised; but, on the other hand, spike any vicious rumors offered you, by declaring the truth instead. As an emotional pacifier, in dealing with such ugliness, learn to be "constant in prayer." M. H.

Debs in Gilded Cage Highlight Grand Ball

To simulate "birds in a gilded cage," the winter's debs stepped through a 15-foot cage of glittering gold to make their triumphal entrance into the Driving Club ballroom last evening for the grand ball that climaxed their season of social activity.

The cage centered a platform placed in front of the fireplace and covered with gold jewel cloth, and as each girl, dressed in white, descended the steps to meet her escort, she was announced by the orchestra leader, and swung into the first dance in which only the debs and their dates participated.

EVERGREEN BACKGROUND

The fireplace was banked with evergreens to form a background for the gilded cage which was hung with big gold balls and dainty boxwood garlands, and topped with a cluster of three gold plumes after the royal manner.

Prize-winning white camellias from Mrs. Samuel C. Porter's greenhouses outlined the door of the cage.

Miss Ann Henson, the Debutante Club president, led the procession of debs, followed by the other officers, Miss Elizabeth Worley, vice president; Miss Susan Ann McKenzie, treasurer; and Miss Kathryn Tomlinson, secretary.

Electing to wear only white formals for their ball, the debs chose modish gowns of tulle, satin, taffeta and brocade, with a dash of brilliant color here and there for accent. They limited their floral adornment to two bouquets, with orchids as favorites.

BUFFET SUPPER

At midnight a buffet supper was served from two long tables sheathed in white satin and covered with gold jewel cloth. The bird cage motif was repeated here, each table being centered with a tall, delicately wrought cage of parakeets. Garlands of boxwood were draped from the cages to the gold and white candelabra at each end of the table which held burning white tapers.

Mrs. Glenn Ryman, mother of debutante Glenn Ryman, was in charge of the decorations.

In addition to the officers, the debutante hostesses included Misses Susan Hull, Betty Meriwether, Barbara Knox, Ruth Orr, Ann Stewart, Abbie Long, Peggy Pfeiffer, Mary Brooke, Nancy Morgan, Helen Almand, Sally Read, Diane Brantley, Frances Marbury, Mary Bondurant, Susan Coltrane, Florence Warren, Glenn Ryman, Mary Lynn Cromwell and Nancy Booth.

Home Vows Unite Couple

Mrs. E. F. Campbell announces the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Frances Campbell Hughes, to Dr. R. W. Richardson of Macon, the ceremony having been quietly solemnized yesterday morning at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. Jack Smith, at 315 Peachtree Battle Ave.

The Rev. Hubert Vance Taylor read the service in the presence of the two families.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Sea Island. They will go to Miami for New Year's, returning after two weeks to Macon where they are building a country home.

Mrs. Richardson is one of the most gifted of Atlanta's musical figures. Possessing a lovely soprano voice, she is soloist at the Cathedral of St. Philip and a member of the quartet at the Temple. She has sung with the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra on several occasions.

Dr. Richardson, a native of Baltimore, is a leading eye, ear, nose and throat specialist of Macon.

Wedding Stock Down In 1953

By YOLANDE GWIN

Marriage stock is on the decline in Fulton County. Up to Christmas day the 1953 marriage market was off 212 "points" as compared to the 1952 total of 5,442 licenses issued. The 1953 total to Dec. 25 was 5,230.

There are three days left for Dan Cupid to equal last year's record.

The Little Chapel of the Glenn Memorial Methodist Church has long held the record as the marriage center in Atlanta and is also referred to by many as the local "Little Church Around The Corner."

3 SCHEDULED

With only three more days left in this year, there are only three marriages scheduled there and all on Thursday.

Bridal couples include Miss Anne Steinmuller and Carl E. Pullum Jr., of Birmingham, Ala. Miss Peggy Osborne and Andy Cox and Miss Mary Mohoney and Roy Poss.

The chapel is in DeKalb County. Records in this area also indicate a decline in marriage. During 1952 there were only 942 licenses issued. Although the '53 total will not be recorded until after the New York, the ordinary office reports that the number will be far less than in 1952.

BUMPER CROP

If engagement ring sales at local jewelry stores indicate any trend in the way of a man with a maid, the spring of 1954 will produce what is generally referred to as a "bumper crop of weddings."

As was the case during the war years, the "with this ring I thee wed" line will have a double meaning. All the girls are selecting wedding bands for their future husbands.

A MOTHER SPEAKS

"There shall be an end to war,"
So do our leaders speak.
(I rock my infant son
And kiss his velvet cheek.)

"There shall be one hundred years
Of peace to come," they say.
(I bend above my manchild's crib,
And, in the dark, I pray.)

"Peace for ever more," they claim,
With a smile and a nod of the head.
(I pray they are right, each silent night,
As I tuck my wee son in his bed!)

Ballerina Elena Patera and Her Husband Boris, Daughter Michele

Atlanta Is New Stage for Dancer

By JEAN ROONEY

A diaper girl is starring in the Atlanta home of a former star of the musical "Bloomer Girl."

The diaper girl is 8-month-old Michele Patera.

The ex-Bloomer Girl is Elena Patera, or Elena Karina, as she was known when she danced and acted her way across the United States in "Bloomer Girl" and "Carousel" and across Europe as a leading ballerina with the Original Ballet Russe.

Elena Patera, her husband Boris and daughter Michele have recently moved to Atlanta into an apartment at 275 Collier Rd., NW.

Boris, a former citizen of Czechoslovakia, will enter Georgia Tech in January. A desire for a mechanical engineering degree from Tech for Boris brought the personable young couple here.

Brooklyn-born Mrs. Patera has no complaints from giving up a promising stage career to help her husband prepare for his life work.

Besides, she'll keep in step with her dancing in Atlanta by teaching budding young ballerinas, she reports.

The young couple look fondly around their Atlanta home, though it's small and sparsely furnished. They've been almost two years trying to find a place to live.

Blond Boris, a native of Prague, Czechoslovakia, is a man without a country. That will be his status for several more years until he can apply for U.S. citizenship.

He escaped from his satellite Czech homeland a few months after the Communist coup d'etat in 1948. He and Elena met in Malmo, Sweden, in 1951 when Boris was a technician and she was a dancer with the Swedish State Theater.

The dark American girl and fair Czech boy married in the Scandinavian country in spring, 1952.

Then began a long struggle to find a country for the Pateras.

Canada admitted the couple a year ago. The U. S. accepted them a few months later.

Woman's Club Plans Holiday Open House

All members and friends of the Atlanta Woman's Club are invited to the annual New Year's Day open house of the club from 3 to 5 p.m. Friday.

Among officers in the receiving line will be Mrs. James N. Brawner, president; Mrs. W. Beverly Johnson, first vice president; Mrs. J. H. McCall and Mrs. J. Cecil Kinnett, secretaries, and Mrs. John P. Coleman, treasurer.

Successful Reducers Give Boosters

By IDA JEAN KAIN

During the last days of the old year, the only things likely to tempt dieters to read on, would be a potent punch recipe, magically calorie free — or the promising stories of triumphant reducers. So here's wonderful news from dieters. The first one is from New Jersey.

"I would like to pass along to other reducers a few words of encouragement. I wore a size 20, and now slide into a perfect junior size 13. What a wonderful feeling! I followed my doctor's approved high protein diet, and tuned in to your column for daily encouragement.

"I am 30 years old, and here are my before and after measurements: Bust from 42 inches to 35 inches; waist from 34 inches to 26½ inches; hips are now 36½ inches. I don't know what they were before, I was afraid to measure. I have never felt better . . . not since I was a teen-ager."

Good for you! 1954 will be the beginning of the best years.

The second letter, from New York, will interest young mothers.

"Following the baby's arrival I weighed 153 pounds — 20 pounds above my normal weight. So, while nursing my baby for eight months, I followed a scientifically planned diet and reduced the 20 excess pounds in the first five months.

"I kept my calories a little over 2,000 a day and ate three well balanced meals daily, including six glasses of skim milk, plus taking a vitamin A and D capsule. My health was never better and my baby gained beautifully. It's a year later now and my doctor is very proud of my lost weight and my good appearance."

Thank you for writing. Young mothers usually feel they cannot lose the excess weight while nursing the baby. It is not rich, heavy foods that insure an adequate supply of milk, but an abundance of all the nutrition essentials in the daily diet. Ask the doctor.

Last . . . "Something wonderful has happened to me. In the past year I have slimmed off 50 excess pounds . . . and never felt better. Your daily morale builders, and the success stories of others encouraged me to stay with it. Never stop writing."

The Evidences Of Smallness

It might be the rain or the fact that I woke up with a sore throat and one of those hacking, Camille-like coughs to find that the end of the Christmas feasting was indeed in sight. In fact, the end of all eating seemed to be in sight because we were suddenly out of coffee, eggs, bacon and bread.

In any case I felt a great dissatisfaction gnawing in me and I could have sworn that the Christmas spirit had not diminished already. I was willing to blame it on anything rather than let my conviction that the world is predominantly populated by people of goodwill slide for a second.

And yea the evidences of smallness and meanness are all around us. One of the columnists on the paper got a note which was very angry and bitter, not merely a disagreement of ideas, which any of us would have regarded as right and proper, but an attack on his morals and his mentality. Even that wouldn't have been too bad except for the means the writer chose to convey her sentiments. She poured out her venom on the back of a Christmas card!

Then the phone rang and a woman who did not identify herself launched an attack on a young girl who is up for a position of honor at a Georgia college.

The woman had nothing to say against the girl herself. At least, she said nothing. But she tackled the girl's family, her grandparents, her parents and even her little brother.

She said things that were vicious and slanderous and she urged the paper to expose the stupidity and the immorality in the girl's family to thwart her effort to get the honor for which she has been nominated. The young woman who took the telephone call is relatively new among us and she turned from her desk pink-faced with outrage.

"Write something about gossip," she urged. "I didn't know people could be so horrible to each other."

If writing about it were the cure, the evil would have been cured centuries ago. After all the Ten Commandments include one about not bearing false witness. Proverbs is full of references to gossip as an abomination to the Lord. In fact, I think we are warned against "a heart that deviseth wicked imaginations, feet that be swift in running to mischief, a false witness that speaketh lies and he that soweth discord among brethren."

There isn't much that we can do about the ones among us who are of evil intent, except to be as wary as possible and to avoid helping them spin their ugly nets. I know one woman of great courage who steadfastly refuses to discuss her friends' affairs. She is interested and helpful when she can be but she never succumbs to the ancient feminine temptation to hash over the failings of her friends. The thing I particularly admire is her wariness of the old snare which begins, "I'm crazy about Mary (or Tom or Margaret or supply your own names) BUT. . . ."

Pinned down, she thinks she is crazy about her friend and steadfastly loyal but she simply cannot resist the urge to hash over her friend's business with another mutual friend. That's not vicious, I know. In fact, it is not in the class with the woman who called up with the avowed purpose of ruining a young girl's chances and perhaps breaking her heart.

It's the well-meaner's equivalent of gossip, however, and I guess all of us well-meaners better watch it. At least, that's as close as I'll come to making a New Year's resolution.

Brains Labelled Love's Antagonist By Dr. Jacobi

NEW YORK (AP)—Today's woman is twice as brainy as her grandmother, but what she's gained in intellect, she's lost in romance, one authority says.

Dr. Jolande Jacobi, of the faculty of the Carl Jung Institute for Analytical Psychology, Zurich, Switzerland, says that modern woman does not hold man in awe as did the woman of two generations ago.

"Woman has solved her inferiority complex on the intellectual level," says Dr. Jacobi, who is lecturing on marriage at the New School for Social Research.

But the psychotherapist says that modern woman's equal status also has eliminated much of the fantasy and beauty from her life. She has become too much of a pal, and as a result, protection, gallantry and courtship have gone out the window.

Dr. Jacobi, a grandmother, doesn't see much chance of today's woman reverting to the type of 50 years ago, but she does feel that a successful marriage these days requires a lot of work.

DAILY GUIDE—That little extra fortitude which is being asked of us these days will make us grow, so hold to the line if things seem to be at sixes and sevens. There is an eclipse due in the early part of January, and I have mentioned before that there is often extra tension in the air at such times.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, CAPRICORN! You should be feeling much happier, and the prospects are for pleasant social activities in the next few weeks. Cranberry Apple Relish

Mrs. Leonard Urban of Fairmont, Minnesota, won a prize for this delicious Cranberry Apple Relish, so good with chicken, meat or fish. Keep a jar in the refrigerator (it keeps for weeks). This is a delicious relish to serve with New Year's turkey, chicken or ham. (This is the last of the present series of Prize-Winning Cranberry Recipes which have appeared weekly. If you missed any of the previous recipes, write to Ocean Spray, Dept. N28, Hanson, Mass., for a complete set.)

CRANBERRY APPLE RELISH

1 apple (medium tart)
½ cup diced celery
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons bottled horseradish
1 pound can Ocean Spray Whole Cranberry Sauce.

Core apple. Put through coarse blade of food chopper or finely dice. Mix with other ingredients. Let stand in refrigerator several hours for flavors to blend. Makes 1 pint relish. Delicious with chicken, any meat or fish.

When you use ready-to-serve Ocean Spray Cranberry Sauce in a recipe, your cooking is half done. Just open a can of cranberry sauce and go on from there.

And of course Ocean Spray, just as it comes from the can, is a delicious partner for chicken, turkey, meat or fish.

TOP STARS HEADLINE CAST IN SHER WOOD'S FIRST PLAY FOR TELEVISION
Wendell Corey, Thomas Mitchell, Gene Lockhart, Yvonne DeCarlo on TV at 8

Sherwood's 1st TV Play To Feature All-Star Cast

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28 (AP)—Pulitzer prize-winning playwright Robert Sherwood makes his television writing debut tomorrow night on WSB-TV at 8 p.m. when "The Backbone of America" is presented with a star-laden cast—and Sherwood's as nervous about it as a brand-new author awaiting a publisher's approval of his first story.

The distinguished four-time winner of the coveted Pulitzer award wrote his play especially for television. It is the first of nine in a three-year NBC contract which will pay him in five figures for each play.

Robert Sherwood

"So far I find I like writing for TV very much, but I may feel differently about it after a while," the greying author said. "There's more freedom in writing for this medium—unlike the stage, you can move from one set to another without any loss of time.

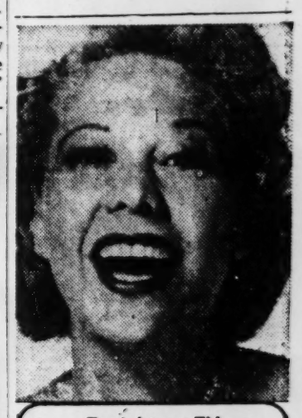

He explained he is in Hollywood to supervise the staging, directing and production of the play, "an unprecedented amount of authority for a playwright. I sincerely hope I don't fall flat on my face."

The play is about high pressure promoters from New York, who more than meet their match when they set out to capture, for their own purposes, a "typical" American family.

Yvonne DeCarlo will be starred in the role of the formidable "V. J.," dauntlessly self-confident head of the promotion department of National Greenbelt Homes. Wendell Corey, as Ben Bruce who works for her, is not impressed. His assignment is to find the "typical American Middle-West family—the kind we'd be honored to have occupy the first house we build."

Thomas Mitchell and Gene Lockhart will be seen in important supporting characterizations.

Specialists To Join For Motorola Show

The Motorola TV Hour invaded four segments of the entertainment world to cast James Thurber's "The 13 Clocks" for the 9:30 p.m. telecast on Channel 11.

Basil Rathbone and Sir Cedric Hardwicke were chosen from the Hollywood Films and Broadway dramatic stage, respectively. Roberta Peters comes from the Metropolitan Opera and John Raitt comes from the musical comedy theater.

GE Readies Color Tube

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., Dec. 28 (AP)—The General Electric Co. announced today it had developed its first receiving tube for use in color television sets.

The company also said that pilot production of color TV picture tubes would begin next month at its Electronics Park plant in Syracuse.

The new receiving tube may be used to regulate brightness of the three primary colors on the picture screen. The first color sets on the market will have from 40 to 50 receiving tubes, compared with about 20 in black-and-white sets.

Oliviers and Snack Bars Grace London Theaters

LONDON (By Air Mail) — Memos from Piccadilly Circus: By the time you read this, these four Yankees in Queen Elizabeth's Court will have enjoyed Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier in Terence Rattigan's "The Sleeping Prince" at the Phoenix Theater. London still clings to early curtains. This one started at 7:30 p.m.

At intermission, in any London theater, you can go to the bar in the theater for refreshments, either hard or soft. Or, upon entering the theater, you can give your order for tea and sandwiches to the girl ushers and they will deliver to your seat during the intermission.

Charles Dickens, who was preoccupied with graveyards and sandwiches in London theaters, had this to say about the theater snack bar:

"Virtue never looked so beautiful or Vice so deformed as when we paused, sandwich in hand, to consider what would come of that resolution of Wickedness in boots to sever Innocence in flowered chintz from Honest Industry in striped stockings.

"When the curtain fell for the night, we still fell back upon the sandwich, to help us through the rain and mire and home to bed."

Your reporter must stop back at Westminster Abbey and inform the shade of Dickens that the sandwich is still both leading man and heroine of the theaters in Piccadilly Circus. Sometimes the sandwich has more meat to it than the plot.

Atlanta Federal Savers Get
Record $1,600,000 Dividends in 1953

For 1953, another record will be posted in Georgia for earnings paid on savings in one year—a whopping $1,600,000! Atlanta Federal's June 30th dividend was in excess of $700,000 and the December 31st dividend will exceed $900,000. That continues an unbroken string of 52 twice-a-year dividends—all paid at the rate of 3% or more per year! To get higher-than-average returns on your savings—returns that help you build a cash reserve safely and speedily—open an insured savings account with Atlanta Federal tomorrow.

Dry Goods

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—The cotton textile market was steady Monday. While actual sales were small, offerings were limited and converters paid 19 cents a yard for the popular 80 square print cloth in nearby position. Traders did not anticipate much of a market this week, reflecting the usual year-end lull.

In wool goods, mill men pinned their hopes for an improvement in business on the success of clearance sales of apparel by retailers after the turn of the year.

In rayon goods, higher prices were quoted on a number of constructions, such as triple sheers and some of the plied yarn fabrics, including tissue failles and cynara types cloth.

Milk Plant Slated for Richmond

AUGUSTA, Dec. 28 (AP)—A $2,000,000 project will get under way in Richmond County shortly after the first of the year when work is expected to begin on a milk processing and ice cream manufacturing plant to be constructed here by the Pet Dairy Products Co.

Several officials of the company will arrive in Augusta Thursday to check on a number of prospective sites for the plant. If one is selected—and it was learned the company definitely has decided to erect a plant here—work should get underway within a few weeks.

Meanwhile, the company, now processing and distributing its fresh milk from Washington, Ga., will construct a temporary distributing plant near Augusta and use it until its huge permanent plant is completed.

As outlined by reliable informants, the plant itself is expected to cost $1,000,000, equipment will run upwards of $500,000, while the purchase price of the land and other purchases will run several hundred thousand dollars.

Expansion of the company's local routes, meanwhile, was also reported today when Fred Timm Jr., president of Augusta Dairies, Inc., announced that the milk delivery business of his concern had been sold to Pet Dairy Products Co.

New Zealand now has an average of one teacher for every 35 pupils.

Work Patterns Mirror Changes in Southland

By JIM MONTGOMERY

A dramatic picture of the social and economic revolution which has progressed relentlessly throughout Georgia and the South during the past quarter-century is mirrored by changing employment patterns in various fields of productive enterprise.

It reveals most forcefully improved methods in agriculture and the movement of population from rural to urban areas.

Although agricultural production has risen by leaps and bounds, farm employment between 1930 and 1950 dropped by more than a half. The percentage decline was about the same for Georgia, the TVA Region (Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia) and the entire country.

However, the actual decrease in number of farm workers presents a more striking contrast between this section and the nation as a whole, the figures for which, of course, include the South.

In Georgia the number dropped 147 per 1,000 persons in the work force . . . from 265 to 118, or 55.5 per cent; in the TVA Region the decline amounted to 138 per 1,000 . . . from 260 to 122, or 53.1 per cent, while for the entire U.S. it dropped 61 per 1,000 . . . from 124 to 63, or 49.2 per cent.

In only one other field of employment, personal services, did declines occur in all three geographic classifications. Nationally the drop was about 43 per cent, while in Georgia and the TVA Region employment in this field was off close to a third.

The biggest increase, both relatively and absolutely, in Georgia's employment pattern was in the trade field. The gain amounted to 35 per 1,000 . . . from 51 to 86, or more than 68 per cent. The TVA Region trade employment increase was nearly as great, while nationally it gained only 37 per cent.

Public service industry and construction employment gains were enjoyed by both Georgia and the TVA Region, but the number of workers in these fields declined nationally.

All three showed marked increases in professional services. Georgia and TVA Region manufacturing employment gains were nearly four times greater . . . at more than 15 per cent . . . than for the entire country.

The employment pattern report was prepared by the Bureau of Business Research, University of Georgia.

Lockheed Orders Reach 1956

At this time of year business and industry pause to take stock and consider future prospects. The Georgia Division of the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. at Marietta is no exception.

It is an exception, however, in that it can now add up orders which will carry its production into 1956. That's how long its B47 program is currently scheduled to continue, and its C130 orders continue into late 1955.

Says Manager D. J. Haughton . . . "I know of no other business in Georgia that has its orders placed this far ahead." He added that there was a good chance the Marietta plant would receive contracts for other types of aircraft business in the coming year.

Haughton said future prospects for the Lockheed-designed C130 turboprop transport . . . for which the Georgia plant is prime contractor . . . are very bright. The Georgia Division, he also noted, is expanding the engineering phases of its organization and intensifying the sales organization and program.

Spinners Sold in Mid-January

Spinners of carded cotton yarn are sold ahead to about mid-January, the Textile Information Service reported yesterday.

Unfilled orders as of Dec. 5 amounted to more than five-and-a-half weeks' production and were nearly three-and-a-half times stocks on hand, it was pointed out.

However, this compared with backlogs at the end of October equal to slightly more than six weeks' output and four times inventories, and with backlogs a year ago amounting to more than eight weeks' production and nearly 10 times stocks on hand.

Oats, Corn Spark Grains

CHICAGO, Dec. 28 (AP)—Grains pounded out substantial gains in active dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Oats and corn led the advance during the morning, responding to news of restrictions on oats imports, while toward the close soybeans came ahead very sharply. Wheat was firm all day. In many cases final prices were at or only a shade under the day's tops.

Wheat closed 1¼-2¼ higher, corn 2 to 2¼ higher, oats 1⅛-2⅜ higher, rye 2¾-3¼ higher, soybeans 3¾-6½ higher and lard 23 cents lower to 3 cents a hundred pounds higher.

The big news as far as the market was concerned was President Eisenhower's proclamation over the weekend limiting imports of oats, other than those from Canada, to 2½ million bushels from Dec. 23, 1953, to Sept. 30, 1954. Canada already has agreed to restrict her shipments to the United States.

This action was aimed at Argentina. In the past two weeks export-import firms have purchased around six million bushels of Argentine oats for shipment to the United States. However, a good part of the purchase was to be imported during January and February. Thus a question arises as to whether they may now be brought in.

Corn went up with oats because it is an alternative feed grain. In addition, receipts of cash corn was very light considering the three-day holiday.

The general bullish enthusiasm took hold of soybeans in the afternoon, causing some hasty short covering. Wheat participated in the upturn.

Cotton Rises; Trading Quiet

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 20 cents to $1.15 a bale higher in quiet trading. The trend was upwards from the start, with persistent New Orleans buying meeting only limited offerings. Much of the demand was credited to short covering. Mill buying of futures was restricted.

One leading Memphis spot firm was estimated to have sold 8,000 bales of various futures deliveries which was believed to represent hedging operations.

Sentiment among traders improved partly on more optimistic predictions regarding export business next year. The government cotton loan, which has already taken over 5,000,000 bales of 1953 crop off the market, was a bolstering factor.

Regarding exports, private Bombay advices said that the Indian cotton crop has been over estimated and that export prices for Indian cotton have firmed recently.
